SKINNY KRIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

The regular "sky pilot" for a certain local club failed to appear in time to express thanks for the day's blessings, so a substitute was named who requested the membership to unite with him in the Lord's prayer. The leadership was fine until he got to that part of the prayer where you either ask for the forgiveness of debts, or trespasses. It didn't bother me any. I've been in debt so long that I just kept going along the indebtedness line, and finished same time when the other boys did on trespassing.

And I am not pleased about Hunter Leach's health. He is at St. Joseph's hospital; diabetic patient. Came home a few weeks ago from Arizona where he had been sent to bring back a prisoner. Here's hoping for a rapid recovery for one of the best "guys" in town.

Too many beans. In order to reduce the supply, the week beginning Jan. 27 will be set apart in a national program to persuade more people to eat more beans. This appeal ought to go over big in Boston. Personally I'm very fond of baked beans, and Heinz has done his part to sell them, but Heinz and my limited capacity and buying power can't solve the over-plus situation. So the appeal goes out to everybody to buy beans. Orange county is a big producer. Therefore the request comes close to home.

The idea of putting a rail at the postoffice steps isn't original. I don't remember of the idea ever being copyrighted, but it's a good suggestion for localities where they have sleet and snow. I've never felt myself slipping at the local entrance.

Sometimes I notice horse fans with their score sheets making mathematical calculations as to which horse has the best chance. They involve weights and track conditions and even the elements known to turf followers. Many of them are scientifically approached, and by no means just "guessing." I have in mind an alert mind capable of making deductions as to how the horses will finish, but like all games of chance and putting your money on a horse is a chance—he often misses the winner by a few necks. After all horse racing is just another necking party.

And then there was the bus driver who forgot his change, and the passengers got a few extra blocks for their fare. Oh, well, you can't think of everything. He had the bus, and that's something. By the way Eckles has some new equipment on the line which collects my nickel.

And the days before Christmas are so few that I am not going to talk about 'em any more.

Resentment expressed by fem friend because my greetings were too restricted. I alibied out of it by accusing the sun get'ing in my eyes. I don't smoke, so I had to think quick to find a "goat." The smile which accompanied the criticism softened the blow.

Ray Raymond isn't easily discouraged. Few weeks ago he mixed up in an automobile accident at Laguna Beach, and a few days ago took on another, from which he emerged with some minor bodily injuries and wounds which interfered with his motivation. So he is resting at the Hale Barker home, with Hale as nurse.

Frank Wolters, custodian of the postoffice that is different, is convinced there are a lot of people who do not believe in signs. The headquarters of the government Employment Service has been relocated from the federal building to 501 West Fifth street, and he has placed in a most conspicuous position.

COURT OPENS INQUIRY OF BOMBING

Victims Back Story of Machine-Gunning

Bulletin
TOKYO. (P)—The spokesman of the Japanese foreign office was asked today when the navy's report on the bombing of the United States gunboat Panay, could be expected. "That is indefinite," he replied, adding jokingly, "maybe in a hundred years."

SHANGHAI. (P)—How Japanese warplanes machine-gunned the small boats carrying wounded men ashore from the bombed United States gunboat Panay—causing more wounds—was told in detail tonight by survivors of the disastrous air attack. They confirmed earlier reports—denied by the Japanese—that such machine gun fire harassed survivors, many already suffering from serious wounds incurred aboard the stricken Panay, as they tried to reach safely ashore last Sunday afternoon.

In addition, survivors reaching here aboard the United States gunboat Oahu said Japanese army detachments in launches on the Yangtze and along the river bank.

DR. FRANK TO STEER G.O.P.

ST. LOUIS. (P)—The Republican National Executive committee in a four-day caucus here agreed upon Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, to head its new policy formulating committee.

The action, verified by at least three members of the committee, however, still was without official confirmation today.

Dr. Frank, in Chicago, asserted he had not been invited to head the group and "had no contact" with anyone at the St. Louis meeting.

Chairman John D. M. Hamilton left by train for Chicago shortly after midnight, presumably to confer with Dr. Frank, although his hurried departure was not explained. Several members of the executive committee with whom he had been conferring since Monday were not aware he had left his hotel.

Two Charged With Beer Burglary

Beers were on the house for three Fullerton youths Tuesday night, but today they found the beer had quite a wallop.

It landed them in county jail, where two of them—Alfred Esqueda, 21, 222 East Truslow street, and Lawrence Ballard, 19, 125 East Truslow street—face burglary charges for allegedly breaking into a beer parlor on East Truslow street and taking between 50 and 60 bottles. The third boy, Joe Gomez, 19, 131 East Truslow, faced petty theft charges for his alleged implication.

The boys were arrested at their homes yesterday, and reportedly confessed to Fullerton police.

English Alliance Said World's Hope

INQUISITORS ASK OFFICIALS TO TESTIFY

McCabe, Under Fire, Seeks New Evidence

Anaheim's citrus scandal was being probed by the county grand jury today, with three north-county citrus heads testifying and more witnesses expected this afternoon.

Meanwhile, word was awaited from Chief Justice William H. Waste of the California supreme court, who is to appoint a justice to replace the disqualified Judge Charles Kuchel of Anaheim in the second trial of criminal charges against Ed Mills, manager of the Anaheim Community Growers.

McCABE IN SACRAMENTO
Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe, target of a courtroom blast by defense attorneys yesterday, was in Sacramento today, presumably gathering new evidence to be used when—and if—the "frozen fruit" case goes on trial again. The first trial ended in a six-six hung jury.

Witnesses today before the grand jury, meeting in extra session, were Bert Zaiser, secretary of the Anaheim Citrus association; S. C. Hartman of Fullerton, director of the same association, and Dr. Glenn Curtis, Brea physician and friend of north-county citrus and political leaders.

JURORS HEARD BATTLE
Several grand jury members were present during three weeks of legal battling in Anaheim justice court in the first trial of Mills and two other defendants, paving the way for today's testimony and investigation.

Justice Kuchel disqualified himself finally after McCabe had charged that Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel, the justice's nephew, had attempted to exert influence in favor of the defendants on state inspectors. The justice disqualified himself yesterday just as his nephew was called to the witness stand by McCabe.

McCabe also was accused of violation of the county salary ordinance because he is city attorney of La Habra and the ordinance prohibits private practice by deputy district attorneys. The accusations were made by S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney and chief defense counsel.

TURF STORE TEST DELAYED

Chances of an immediate appellate court test of Fullerton's anti-bookie ordinance went glimmering today, as Fullerton police arrested, then released an employee of that city's betting agency.

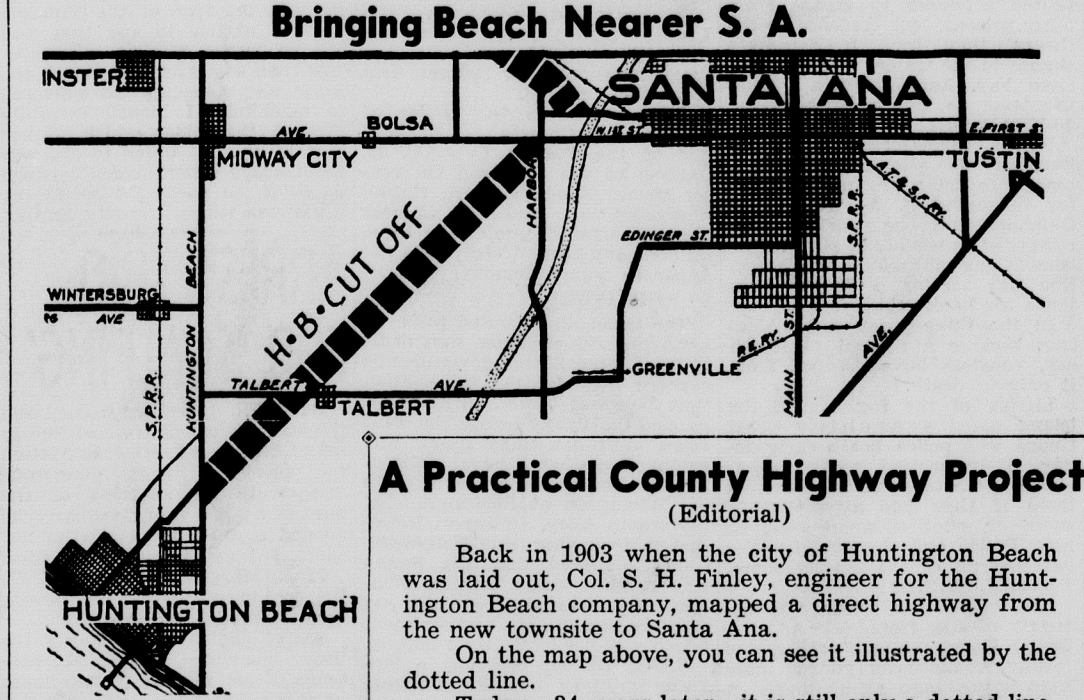

A "friendly arrest" had been planned in order for the appellate court to rule on the ordinance in habeas corpus proceedings. But today police arrested Warren Ray, employee of the betting shop, only five minutes after he had opened for business. No charges were filed, and he was released.

"Only procedure now open to the 'bookies' is an appeal from a decision of Superior Judge James L. Allen this week, holding the ordinance valid.

(C. Yates McDaniel, Chinese speaking Associated Press correspondent, was within Nanking during the Japanese army's siege and capture of the capital of China. Here is his diary of those dangerous, uncertain days.)

Dec. 5—Conflicting reports started me on a motor expedition east of the city to find the war. I found it all right, when my car was brought up by an explosion of a shell 200 yards ahead. I discovered I had driven through Japanese lines 28 miles from Nanking.

Dec. 7—Drove through flaming villages 15 miles out, fires set by retreating Chinese. Forced behind a farm house when a Japanese plane dived. Passed through Tangshan Hot Springs and suddenly discovered I was in no man's land

KIN OF J. C. TEACHER LOST

Nurse Reported Missing in War Zone

Miss Sarah Glenn, sister of Thomas H. Glenn, Santa Ana Junior college English department head, today was listed among those missing in China.

Acting as the hospital superintendent at Soochow hospital, near Nanking, Miss Glenn has served in China since 1930. She formerly had been at Huchow General hospital, midway between Nanking and Shanghai, but was assigned to the hospital at Soochow when hostilities broke out last summer.

She was the only foreign nurse in the hospital. Soochow, bombed in August by the Japanese, was later captured. It had been one of the local points in the fighting. Reports from the danger zone said that the wounded had been removed several days before the capture of Soochow.

"I imagine that my sister was removed at that time," Glenn stated. "Whether or not she was just leaving Nanking this week when the American gunboat was blown up and sunk I do not know. It is probable that she was sent up Yangtze river with the wounded several days ago."

Scouts Make Own Ice for Toboggan

Orange county Boy Scouts will enjoy tobogganing at Camp Ro Ki Li Dec. 26 if they must make their own ice.

The camp has not yet been snowed in and prospects of a snowfall appear slight. So, water is to be piped from a nearby stream to an incline at the side of a hill which will be sprinkled down. Below freezing temperatures prevailing at the camp will soon transform the water into a sheet of ice for the toboggan slide.

It will be slicker and faster than the type provided by a snowfall. Harrison White, Scout executive, stated today.

Dec. 9—Found southeastern gorges barricaded, Chinese vigorously firing on Japanese half mile outside. Started forward, when Japanese planes appeared. I ducked into a dugout. Sticking out my head, saw a score of dead or writhing soldiers. I left.

Dec. 12—Nanking without water, heat, lights. This evening car engulfed by crazed mob of retreating Chinese; pushed many off running board.

Dec. 13—Near north wall, suddenly saw Japanese climbing through breach. With Japanese permission, climbed through

A Practical County Highway Project

(Editorial)

Back in 1903 when the city of Huntington Beach was laid out, Col. S. H. Finley, engineer for the Huntington Beach company, mapped a direct highway from the new townsite to Santa Ana.

On the map above, you can see it illustrated by the dotted line.

Today—34 years later—it is still only a dotted line. Perhaps the expense of the road was not justified at that time; but today a direct connecting link between the two communities can probably be classed as one of the greatest highway needs in the county. Santa Ana would benefit by increased trade from the coastal oil belt; and Huntington Beach would benefit from the great number of inland county residents driving there for beach and ocean sports.

The proposed cut-off would save two and one-half miles. It calls for 5½ miles of new construction, through level, dry acreage, with little or no citrus property to cut through.

An 80-foot right of way, graded and oiled for two lanes of traffic might not cost over $150,000.

Such a route would help both Santa Ana and Huntington Beach.

HOOVER ASKS NEW DEAL HIT-RUNNER GETS 5 YEARS

CHICAGO. (P)—Former President Hoover proposed last night a social and economic system to supplant the New Deal's "planned economy" whose results he termed "obvious violations of common sense."

Speaking before the Economic club, Mr. Hoover said a study of the national scene disclosed widespread anxiety, confusion and fear arising from administration policies.

He contended the forces of "planned economy" involve constantly greater centralization of government, conflicts with the constitution, a minimizing of the independence of congress and the judiciary, dangers of inflation, huge deficits and great increases in debt and taxes.

"The results are obvious violations of common sense," he said. "Transient political officials cannot plan the evolution of 120,000,000 people."

Virgin Island Stamps on Sale

Twenty-thousand Virgin Island stamps went on sale this morning at the Santa Ana postoffice, according to Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith.

The stamps are of a three-cent denomination and possess a picture of the community of Charlotte Amalie with Sugar Loaf Island in the background. They are purple in color.

breached gate, walked through streets filled with dead Chinese. Some Japanese's sense of humor—decapitated head balanced on a barricade with a biscuit in the mouth, another with a long Chinese pipe.

Dec. 14—Watched Japanese throughout city looting. Saw one Japanese soldier who had collected $3000 after demanding civilians in safety zone give up at bayonet point. Reached north gate through streets littered with dead humans and horses. Saw first Japanese car enter gate, skidding over smashed bodies.

Dec. 15—Chinese thankfulness over became despairing disillusionment. This afternoon saw some of the soldiers I helped disarm dragged from houses, shot and kicked into kitchens. Tonight saw group of 500 civilian disarmed soldiers, hands tied, marched from safety zone by Japanese carrying Chinese "big swords." None returned.

Dec. 16—Before departing for Shanghai, Japanese consul brought "no entry" notices, which posted on embassy's property. En route to the river, saw many more bodies in the streets. Passed a long line of Chinese, hands tied. One broke away, ran and dropped on his knees in front of me, beseeching me to save him from death. I could do nothing. My last remembrance of Nanking: Dead Chinese, dead Chinese, dead Chinese.

Protest Arrests As Soviet Army Rushed to Front

TOKYO. (P)—The Japanese foreign office today formally charged the Soviet Union with acting in a manner "utterly unthinkable in any civilized country" in connection with arrests of Japanese in Russia.

The foreign office protested to the Soviet embassy, citing what Japan called numerous cases in which Soviet authorities had arrested Japanese and held them without trial.

A memorandum accompanying the protest said Japan wished a "responsible answer."

PRISONERS 'ESCAPE' FROM ISLAND

Seek Bodies of Pair In San Francisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Heavy shore patrols and a swarm of federal and police boats searched the waters of San Francisco bay today for two desperate criminals who escaped from Alcatraz Island's "escape proof" federal penitentiary under cover of a dense fog.

Officials expected to find their bodies.

There was only one chance in a thousand, authorities agreed, that Ralph Roe, 29-year-old bandit from Duncan, Okla., and Theodore Cole, 23-year-old kidnaper of Stroud, still lived.

During a half hour between regular counting of prisoners yesterday afternoon the pair broke two panes of glass in a window and escaped from the machine shop where they worked. Hidden from tower guards by the densest fog of the year, they reached the outside wire fence where they jimmied a gate.

20-FOOT FALL
"The cliff beyond the gate is almost sheer," said Warden James A. Johnston. "There is about a 20-foot fall but it could be made in a jump or two."

After reaching the rocks at the base of the cliff, the pair hid in caves on the island, plunged into the powerful ebb tide in an attempt to swim the mile and a quarter to San Francisco, or slid into the water to make a rendezvous with a confederate's boat screened from the 12-acre rock by the fog.

The entire island, caves and all, was repeatedly searched without revealing further trace of the men. "If they went into the water," Johnston said, "it was a long (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Doris's Hubby Willing to Share Her Dough

LOS ANGELES. (P)—James H. R. Cromwell, 39, who with his wife, the former Doris Duke, controls one of the world's largest fortunes, believes in wealth sharing—but on a voluntary basis.

"Possessors of great fortunes, like my wife or the Rockefeller's, should relinquish about one-third of them," he said here, on his way to Honolulu to join Mrs. Cromwell, but not for government use. These sums should endow colleges, build orphanages, erect hospitals.

"I know I'll get the Bronx cheer for saying the income tax should be abolished, but soaking the rich is the bunk."

Jury Exonerates Crash Driver

Albert Clark, 607 West Palmyra street, Orange, yesterday was exonerated of criminal responsibility for the death of Jerry Broderson, elderly Orange man who died of injuries received when Clark's car struck him as he was crossing an Orange street last Saturday.

Exoneration came in the verdict of a coroner's jury that inquired into the death yesterday and held it was accidental.

The arrest was made when the two youthful bandits, fleeing south, overturned their car at Spadra road and Whiting avenue, as Patrolman Garner sat in a police car across the street. Discovery of large quantities of currency and firearms in the car led to apprehension of the pair.

Patrolman Garner, happy to play Santa Claus, turned the check over to be divided equally between all members of the force.

IMMIGRATION ARRESTS

Charges of violating the federal immigration act today faced Luis Villegas, 20, and Ramiro Baez, 25, both of Mexico, who were arrested by federal authorities yesterday.

Lucky Crash Brings Christmas Reward To 10 Policemen

Lady Luck and quick wits combined today to present 10 Fullerton police officers with unexpected Christmas presents.

The 10 shared in a $500 reward paid by the Bank of America to Patrolman Ernest Garner, for the capture and arrest of two San Jose bank robbers, last Sept. 17.

HELD TO ANSWER
George R. Harrison was held to answer to the superior court on two counts of forgery following his preliminary hearing in Santa Ana justice court yesterday. Judge Kenneth T. Morrison set bail at $2500. Newell L. Moore, Santa Ana, was complaining witness against Harrington.

F.D.R. VETOES WAR BALLOT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he did not believe a referendum on war was consistent with a representative form of government.

Asked by a woman reporter if he thought a referendum, requiring a public vote before the nation could go to war, was consistent with the United States form of government, the President said the easiest way to answer that was to just say no and stop right there. A petition circulated by Representative Ludlow (D., Ind.) proposing submission of a constitutional amendment for a war referendum was signed by 218 house members, forcing the house to order a vote on the proposal.

TWO 'ESCAPE' FROM ALCATRAZ

gambler's chance. I don't see how anybody could make it. There was driftwood in the tide and I could see it swirling out. It went out at high speed, turning over and over. "The tide would have swept them right out the Golden Gate into the sea."

SLIGHT CHANCE
"I don't see that the men had any chance if they hoped to reach a prearranged boat, standing out of sight. I don't think they could have got to the boat."

He recalled boats were unable to reach a soldier lost off nearby Angel Island a few weeks ago. He was carried by the rushing tide through the Golden Gate into the Pacific ocean. His body was recovered a few days later.

"If they got off the island," commented Police Inspector Max Reznik, "they're probably out to the Farallons by now."

The Farallon Islands are 25 miles from the Golden Gate. The desperate nature of the convicts—Alcatraz is the Devil's Island for America's most hardened criminals—and Cole's repeated attempts to escape from other prisons, lent credence to the theory they took a desperate chance in the waters of San Francisco bay. Each faced a virtual life term on "the rock."

50-YEAR TERM
Former fellow prisoners recalled that shortly after he was sentenced to 50 years on Alcatraz for kidnaping J. A. Rutherford, Oklahoma pipeline worker, Cole remarked he would not stay on the island long enough to be bored. Roe was serving a 99-year sentence for bank robbery.

In the three years since Alcatraz became a federal penitentiary, convicts have escaped from it only in death.

Lifting of the fog around the island aided searching Coast Guard and police boats early today. They cruised around areas where currents would have carried them if they had attempted to swim or pilot a small boat or raft. Police and sheriff's deputies patrolled all of the nearby shore.

PATROL SHORE
The only other prisoner to attempt escape from Alcatraz, Joseph Bowers, a mail robber, was fatally wounded by guards more than a year ago as he topped a wall around the prison.

Officers around the entire bay region maintained heavily armed patrols to capture the pair on the bare possibility they had reached the mainland.

"The prisoners were counted at 1 p. m.," Warden Johnston said, "and again at 1:30 when Roe and Cole were found missing from the workshop. Somehow, in that half hour they disappeared into a fog which made it nearly impossible to see any distance."

Officials said there was no disorder among the nearly 300 prisoners, who were aware that search for the men was under way.

Injured Detective Recovering Today

Detective Hunter Leach of the police department was recovering today from a brain operation performed yesterday at St. Joseph hospital for injuries he says he sustained when a prisoner struck him over the head with a pair of handcuffs.

Attaches at the hospital refused to comment on Leach's condition, and Dr. James Farrage, his physician, said he would "rather not make any statement."

JAPS MAY SNUB U. S. PROTEST

fired machine gun bursts at the Panay before she sank.

The river party also boarded the Panay's, after her crew and civilian passengers abandoned ship, for a hurried inspection just before she went under the river's muddy waters.

CARIES DEAD
The Oahu's flags fluttered at half mast as she steamed into Shanghai bearing the dead, wounded and rescued survivors of her sister ship Panay.

Two Japanese destroyers, the Otari Katsuragi and the British gunboat Ladybird conveyed the United States vessel as she steamed alongside the flagship Augusta, ending her 220-mile trip down the Yangtze.

On board were the bodies of Storekeeper Charles L. Ensminger of the Panay; Capt. C. H. Carlson of the Standard Oil vessel Meian; Sandro Sandri, Italian newspaperman, and the Chinese quartermaster of one of the three oil company craft destroyed in the Japanese attack Sunday.

60 SURVIVORS
The Oahu also carried some 60 survivors, 15 of them wounded. The United States government's concern over belated information that Japanese boats had machine-gunned the Panay before she went down with her flags flying was emphasized when a naval court of inquiry boarded the Oahu down the Whangpoo at Pootung.

Norman Alley, Universal Newsreel photographer from Hollywood, Calif., disclosed that the Panay was bombed before leaving Nanking and was shelled going up river before the air bombardment which sank her to the river bottom.

"After the air bombing, a Japanese military detachment from pontoons along the shore machine-gunned the Panay for several minutes; then sent a party aboard which stayed five minutes before they sank," Alley said.

FEAR ATTACK
"Their action caused panic among survivors ashore, who feared the Japanese would turn machine guns on them next."

"The Panay's gun crews stuck bravely to their guns until the last civilian was gone. When ordered to abandon ship, the gun crews jumped overboard and swam ashore. I remained aboard cranking a camera until the last boat shoved off."

J. W. Geist, engineer officer from Altoona, Pa., told the Associated Press the Panay was anchored at noon Sunday 28 miles above Nanking. After lunch call had sounded, planes were heard overhead.

"Without warning, someone called 'they are dropping bombs,' Geist said. "Three heavy bombers flying at about 7,000 feet came over and loosed explosives. One hit the bridge, doing heavy damage. Another bomb hit close to the ship, pushing in walls of the craft and allowing water to pour in. Quickly the water was knee deep."

"We got the boats down and put the injured in them, heading for the north bank of the river. Some jumped overboard and swam."

GUNNERS FIGHT
"There was no doubt the Japanese knew we were American. Three flags were plainly visible. One was painted on the side of the ship facing a Japanese motorboat that machine gunned the sinking Panay."

Colin Macdonald, correspondent for the London Times, told of seeing sailors stripped to the waist, some of them bleeding from wounds, grimly firing machine guns at the attacking planes.

"When the planes came roaring back, I dived into the chief petty officers' mess on the boat deck," MacDonald said. "Many civilians took shelter there, including Sandri, who was crouched near the door."

"Sandri suddenly clapped his hands to his stomach and cried out 'I die.'"

"I saw immediately he was gravely wounded and found he had been hit in the stomach with two machine gun bullets."

RIVER TIBER PERILS HOMES

ROME, (AP)—Flood waters of the river Tiber, approaching record stage today, poured into cellars of low-lying homes along its banks and threatened to invade ground floors. No lives had been reported lost.

The governor of Rome closed historic Ponte Milvio to traffic. This bridge, whose central arches date back to the time of Christ, was closed two days ago on account of rains but had been reopened.

Not since 1934 had the Tiber reached today's high stage. In 1934 it rose to 45.9 feet.

ARREST TRIO FOR 'SCALPING'

BOSTON, (AP)—Two women and the husband of one were at liberty under bail today after conviction for assault with a dangerous weapon in the shearing of the head of a third young woman who alleged syrup was poured on her horn scalp and feathers applied.

Mrs. Marguerite Cupples, 22, the victim, exhibited her closely cropped head in the courtroom.

Alfred Ledbetter, 27, one of the three convicted, appealed sentence of six months to the house of correction. His wife, Martha, 22, appealed a $300 fine, and Mrs. Ann Schuyler, 27, appealed a fine of $50.

Judge Albert F. Hayden termed the attack "the most outrageous case of assault I have encountered in 25 years on the bench" and said he believed the whipping post and tar feathers would be justifiable punishment.

Mrs. Cupples testified she had been "out with" Ledbetter and Mrs. Schuyler's husband the night before the attack, which occurred in the Schuyler apartment.

GIRL CAPTURES AUDIENCE

Thunderous applause, an entire audience at the feet of a 13-year-old girl, climaxed last night's concert of the Federal Symphony orchestra.

Heartfelt tribute was the reward of slim, girlish Gloria Chiappinelli, featured artist on the program. Miss Chiappinelli played Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E. Minor for violin and orchestra, as the piece de resistance of the evening.

Her interpretation of the difficult work was masterful and assured throughout. In the wings stood her teacher, Carlton Wood, who was recalled later to take one of the soloist's many bows with her.

As a surprise and tribute to Miss Chiappinelli, the orchestra later played "A Serenade to Gloria," composed with full orchestral arrangement by Peter Chiappinelli. Conductor Leon Eckles announced that the girl's father is a member of the symphony's horn section.

The orchestral portion of the program featured the massive Fourth Symphony of Tchaikowsky. Included in the shortened program following were the farandole movement of Bizet's "L'Arlesienne" suite, Busch's string arrangement of Foster's "Old Folks at Home" and the "Poppies" number from Hadley's Ballet of Flowers.

The program was the most ambitious yet attempted by the orchestra.

HEKKING NAMED MUSEUM HEAD

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Dr. William M. Hekking of Buffalo, N. Y., has been appointed curator of contemporary painting and sculpture at the Los Angeles museum, Director William A. Bryan announced today.

Dr. Hekking will come here next month to take up his duties.

He was director of the Albright Art Gallery in Buffalo for seven years, taught art in six universities and developed special museum courses of art study for children. For the last three years he has been art critic for the Buffalo Evening News.

MEXICO ACTS TO CONTROL POWER THEFT

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—The Mexican government finally took action today to protect the power industry against flagrant thefts of electric current.

President Lazaro Cardenas sent a bill to congress which provides fines ranging from five to 5000 pesos and prison sentences from three days to five for power stealing, the severity of punishment depending on the amount of current stolen and other considerations.

The Mexican Light & Power company and its subsidiaries on Dec. 1 announced that after Jan. 1 they would accept no new customers because of wire tapping by power thieves.

Company officials estimated theft of current amounted to 250,000,000 kilowatt hours annually—25 per cent of the annual production.

Because of the lack of adequate legislation at that time to stop the thefts, the company was disinclined to spend more money on increasing its power producing facilities.

'Hex' Murderer Seeks Freedom to Become Artist

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A raw-boned Pennsylvania farmboy, serving a long term for a 1928 "hex" murder, has asked the state to set him free so he might become an artist.

John Curry, who was only 14 the day he stood trembling before a York county court and heard himself sentenced to spend the rest of his days in prison, petitioned the board of pardons for a parole.

Behind the walls of the Eastern state penitentiary, John found that he could draw pictures better than any of his fellow convicts. Then he began to paint. His portraits and landscapes attracted attention on the "outside."

New friends offered to help him. July 24, 1934, his life sentence was reduced to 10 to 20 years. Then the friends asked for his freedom.

The crime for which Curry and two others were sent to prison brought a state investigation into "hexing," terror for many years among central Pennsylvania rural folk.

The mystic signs and "charms" on barns and other farm buildings can still be seen between Harrisburg and Philadelphia, symbols of bad luck or good to the farmer, his family, or his stock.

In the winter of 1928 York county hen houses were being looted. Curry, John H. Blymyer and Wilbert G. Hess decided to get a lock of hair, which "hex doctors" said would prevent the thefts.

They went to the home of a recluse, Nelson D. Rehmyer. He would not give up the lock of hair. There was a tussle. Rehmyer was killed.

Lopsidedness in Hounds Feared

LONDON, (American Wire)—Running dog races clockwise to prevent greyhounds from becoming lopsided was being discussed in racing circles here today. Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley, director of the Greyhound Racing association, proposed having two "right hand races a week" to keep the animals from being high on the right side and low on the left.

Job Census Sets Trap for Chiselers

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The post office got an idea when the mailmen brought back a number of unemployment census envelopes with the notation "unknown at this address."

Fictitious names at such addresses — mostly cheap lodging houses along this city's "Skid Row"—will be checked up against the state relief rolls with a view to exposing frauds.

Thelma Steen Has Birthday

MIDWAY CITY.—Thelma Steen was hostess at an afternoon party recently marking the occasion of her twelfth birthday. Participating in the affair were Ruth Robertson, Ray Fogler, Mary Ellen Prichard, Charlene Haverty, Betty Lou Holly, Peggy Miller, Doris Jean Foley, Lovelle Prindle, Shigaga Sadakane, Gloria Inman, Margaret Crouch, Helen and Mozelle Snyder and Leah Cooper.

Ring Is Recovered Twice in Same Place

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A ruby-diamond ring, lost nine years ago by Mrs. Kennedy Hammill, was found in a sewer a mile from her house. Recently she missed the ring again, had the same section of sewer searched. There it was.

Luxembourg has an area of 999 square miles.

PRODUCTION INCREASE IS PREDICTED

Roper Claims Demand To Aid Industry

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper indicated today he believed industrial production would turn upward soon.

"We have evidence," he said, "that production is now running below the actual demand for goods and that inventories are being reduced."

He also told a press conference Christmas trade was running about as heavy as last year, with some classes of sales about three to five per cent ahead of 1936.

Sale of about a million bushels of Texas and Kansas wheat to Mexico, he announced, has been arranged through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Mexico also may buy, he added, a large quantity of Oregon and California wheat for use in Lower California.

Culbertson Quits Bridge as Wife Seeks Divorce

PARIS. (AP)—Ely Culbertson announced today he could play again bridge until he could play again with Mrs. Culbertson—after she gets her Reno divorce.

The bridge expert said he was "heartbroken" over the pending suit and that his game was "down 100 per cent."

Culbertson explained he and his wife were exchanging daily cables and added: "I bet I'm the only man who ever sent flowers to his wife while she was waiting for a divorce."

Hunger Faces Marooned Scots

LONDON. (AP)—Food shortage became serious today in isolated villages of Scotland and Northern England, marooned for nearly a week by huge snowdrifts. If the situation does not improve air-planes may be sent to their aid. Rising rivers brought a threat of floods to another area—the fens of Eastern England. Most rivers in Southern and Central England were rising steadily.

Send Melons To Girl Sufferer

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—At a cost of $100, six watermelons were speeded from Los Angeles to a Philadelphia hospital by air express last night to fill a prescription for an 11-year-old patient suffering from kidney disease. The melons weighed 105 pounds. Their juice will be given to young Dorothy Hidenour.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

By DONALD BUTTON

"I think that a mural in a public building, as it is a public possession, is also to a certain extent a public responsibility."

"It should express something more than a social or political creed of the moment. It should have some principle or bond of universality."

"I do not believe painting the formula for the chemical composition of corn across an ear of corn in a permanent mural is either good art or good teaching."

"As far as I am concerned, mural art has no business to be so thoroughly submerged in the propaganda of any one time. To me, no mural has justification that does not have elements of universality."

Were I, Donald Button, to say to Bess Garner that these were the most significant statements in her new book "Footnotes in the Margin," she might laugh and repeat "Whatever I think I am, it's not an art critic."

But broaden these statements concerning the murals in Rodriguez Market, and one has the major premise of the contemporary critic! Bess Garner, despite her retiring nature, is one who, disregarding precedent, makes precedent!

I've just finished her book, and regard it as one of the highlights in a much-read 1937, for she has written as she talks—at ease, with authoritative information, and directly.

She takes you rapidly from one end of Mexico to the other. When you've finished, you're not quite sure how you got there, but you remember what you saw. And that to me is important!

Those who know Bess Garner and Padua Hills will find this book exciting. You who do not know them, or Mexico, will, upon reading, want to!

As the New Yorker records New York, so does "Coast" (a magazine just making its appearance) seek to put those states bordering upon the Pacific upon paper.

Especially interesting is the complimentary reference to the Mosaic Jean Goodwin and Arthur Ames are bringing to completion at Newport.

Their mosaic, surely, is a bright point in the contributions of the Federal Project to public buildings, is in full accord with Bess Garner's statement in re murals in public buildings.

They (Goodwin and Ames) are also working out the very different mosaic base for the fountain Donald Hord has created for the San Diego civic center.

San Diego's bay project, incidentally, is going to be worth watching. Transforming a nondescript area into a remarkable civic asset is, to me, intelligent use of public moneys.

This is too busy a time to concentrate upon reading, but you might like to put the following on your "recommended" list for first of the year reading.

First, and foremost, there's C. J.

Bulliet's "The Significant Moderns," a pleasant, authoritative book dealing largely with the French following Corot.

In a more learned vein, Walter Pach's "Masters of Modern Art," Georgia O'Keeffe, John Marin, Thomas Benton gain favorable notice in the not-so-new "Men of Art" by Thomas Craven.

Fred Rosenau and Arthur Miller seem agreed that Louis Danz' "The Psychologist Looks at Modern Art" is stimulating. It is interesting sequel to "Thus Spake Zarathustra Jr."

Interesting to look at are the very new Audubon Bird Book and the portfolio of reproductions from the Moscow Museum of Western Art.

MADE FROM FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS

Give cigarettes for Christmas! What cigarette? CAMELS, of course. There's no doubt about how much people appreciate Camel's finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. A gift of Camels carries a double greeting from you. It says: "Happy Holidays and Happy Smoking!"

Prince Albert

THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

If you know a man owns a pipe—you'll be making an appropriate selection if you give him PRINCE ALBERT. Prince Albert's as mild a pipe tobacco as ever delighted a pipe-smoker. It's easy on the tongue—doesn't bite. It's extra cool, thanks to its "crimp cut." And it's tops for mellow taste.

(right) A pound of Prince Albert, packed in a real glass humidior that keeps the tobacco in prime condition and becomes a welcome possession. Gift wrap.

(left) One pound of mild, mellow Prince Albert—the "biteless" tobacco—packed in the cheerful red tin humidior and placed in an attractive Christmas gift package.

CCC WORKERS MUST SALUTE U. S. FLAG

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Civilian Conservation corps officials disclosed today the adjutant general of the army had sent instructions to all CCC camps calling for one retreat-flag lowering—formation among corps enrollees each week-day.

Aides of Director Robert Fechner declared, however, that the formation was in no sense military training for the 300,000 young men now in the CCC camps.

Officials explained that the retreat formation order, issued Nov. 24, was approved by Fechner, who was said by aides to be opposed to any form of military training in the camps.

The evening ceremonies provide for the assembly of CCC companies in two lines before the flag staff, while the flag is hauled down.

KLAMM'S HAMS SELL WELL

George Klamms' pickled hams may sound like poetry, but they're really a sensation, according to astounding sales of the home-pickled and cured meats last week. The local man has gained state-wide fame for his secret process of treating the pork.

Last Saturday he opened a demonstration in the Broadway meat market in the Grand Central market. Before noon the hams were completely sold out. Many patrons were turned away disappointed.

Klamms this week had made a special attempt to take care of all visitors wishing to take advantage of his offering, a special sale and demonstration of pork, cured by his own secret process.

Originator Of Society '400' Called by Death

NEW YORK, (AP)—Cecil Jerome Allen, 69, society editor of The Sun, who, with Ward McAllister, originated the descriptive phrase "the 400," died today.

McAllister's casual remark in an interview with Allen that "there are only 400 people in New York that one really knows," led to the widely used term for society.

Born in Monticello, Iowa, Mr. Allen came to this city as a boy and entered the newspaper profession as a reporter for The Times.

WOMAN KILLS SELF, PET

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Flossie Oliver, 41, Tucson, took her cat, Bluey, and a shotgun and walked into the mesquite tangles of the Black mountains Tuesday.

Today a posse of cowboys and sheriff's deputies found her dead, a shotgun wound in her mouth. To a near-by mesquite tree she had first tied Bluey, shot it in the head and then covered it with her coat.

In the pocket of the coat was a note saying, "I see no future for me without Albert," her husband, who died a year ago.

GILMORE PAYS BONUS
SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Gilmore Oil company will pay a bonus to employees of 3 per cent of their earnings for the year. This follows a six-year custom of the company. Other employee benefits during the year included a five per cent pay increase for the bulk of the workers, and life insurance, pension and disability plans maintained as a part of company policy.

Oil Workers Receive Bonus

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Employees of the Continental Oil company shared with stockholders in the company's record 1937 earnings today with the distribution of a bonus equivalent to nearly a month's salary. President Dan Moran announced.

"Continental Oil company's business in 1937 has been the greatest in the history of the company," Moran said, "and we are gratified to distribute this bonus in recognition of the contribution by each employee."

The bonus will be followed on Dec. 20 with a payment of a 25-cent dividend to stockholders of record on Nov. 20, the president said.

Triplets Are Surprise to Pacing Father

OAKLAND, (AP)—M. J. Campbell halted his anxious pacing in the hospital corridor as a nurse came from the delivery room.

"What is it?" he inquired anxiously. "Boy or girl?"

"Both," smiled the nurse. "Or, rather, two boys and a girl." The triplets were born Sunday to Faye Campbell, whom Campbell married in St. George, Utah, 10 months ago. The parents are each 22.

CHAPTER 19

She could sit up—not comfortably yet, but still not too painfully. She could raise her arms a little—feeling was coming back into them. And she could swallow, but her tongue still felt foreign to her mouth, and swollen.

There was no distress from the light, for her eyes were used to it. She reached over, pulled the topcoat from the overnight case and put it around her shoulders, for she was chilly, and her thin black suit was not much protection.

She was still looking at the overnight case, at the worn gold initials which faced her. N. R. They were just under the lock. Her case, her bag, her hat, her gloves. Her coat around her shoulders. She shivered, not so much from cold as from wonderment.

TIRED BRAIN

He had so carefully left all her belongings. Why? Dumped her out on the edge of this neglected field—with her own things.

Why, again? He must have gone back to the bedroom after she was tied and bundled in the blanket to get these things.

They must have ridden in the car on the long drive. Not in the back with her, because she had felt no case against her body, and if it had been on the seat it would have bounced down on her on one of the sharp curves they had taken. In the front perhaps...

Why? Her brain felt tired, as it sometimes used to feel after a stiff examination at college. She struggled to her knees, and then to her feet, and stood up, shaking at first, then pretty steadily. She could walk.

She could take on step, two steps, weakly, like a baby, though. Three steps. Three steps when HE had taken when he brought her here from the car. He had made those three steps several times.

DIFFICULT TO SPEAK

The road came down a slope twisting into this little hollow where the meadow was, and from the fairly level meadow took another dip down to a turn perhaps a quarter of a mile away.

She had seen HIM go down that bit of a hill and turn to the right at the corner, which was the only way you could turn. A cut in the hill had blotted out the sight of the car after that.

Across the road was another meadow not so broad as this, rising to smaller hills a few barns were huddled. There was a cow, too, grazing across the road, a rather thin Jersey, staring at her as it chewed its cud.

The cow was standing under an oak tree, and the meadow trees scattered over the meadow, most of them much smaller than the one under which she was standing.

"Here you are, Nancy Roland," she said aloud, and her voice sounded choked, and it was still difficult for her to speak because of her tongue.

It was good to be able to breathe the fresh sweet air, though, good to be able to throw back her shoulders, to walk around.

She could do that nicely again, with practically no pain at all, and no feeling of discomfort except the tingling in her arms.

She lifted the topcoat and looked at her wrists. They didn't look as if they had been bound—only a slight wide red mark around them that was fading.

The same on her ankles when she pulled down her stockings and examined them.

FINDS HER WATCH

Strange—and she had been tied up from eight-thirty last night—until, what time was it now?

Remembering that she had a watch in her purse, she picked it up and opened it. Yes, HE had left that.

The watch was in the bag, the little light leather fob watch that Alan had given her last Christmas. It was running, and its small hands pointed to seven o'clock.

She had wound it last night when she was getting her things ready—just before she had put it in her purse. She wound it again now.

What time it had been when he left her here she didn't know. Fifteen minutes ago? Half an hour ago?

Probably more like half an hour ago, because it had taken her some time, certainly more than 15 minutes, to get used to her limbs—and her freedom.

Alan's watch, his gift. She was holding it, looking at it. When she had opened the package last Christmas morning, she had been quite delighted.

But then Alan always managed to give her nice presents. The Christmas before he had given her a dresser set.

Alan's watch—and he had lied so disgracefully. She dropped the watch back into the purse, and closed it tight. She would have liked to have thrown it away in the weeds, indeed she thought of doing that, but she was suddenly practical. It was the only watch she had at the moment. She might need it.

HER MONEY?

When the purse was closed, she started to put it back where it had been on top of the overnight bag. HE hadn't by any chance taken the little money in it, had HE?

She opened it again, her fingers not as steady as they had been even with Alan's watch in them. Four dollars and 90 cents she had had in the purse when she last looked at it.

Four dollars and 90 cents was something when you were stranded in a meadow. Four dollars and 90 cents meant wires to Los Angeles, maybe a telephone call.

Her change purse was in the bag. She gave a sigh of relief when she saw it. The contents she tumbled quickly in her lap, and she sat for a moment looking at the green bills scattered on her blue and white print skirt.

Four dollars and 90 cents. Here were the 90 cents; 50 cents, two dimes, four nickels. But there were more bills than four one-dollar green backs. There were so many...

"It's the shock of being kidnapped," Nancy whispered. "I'm not myself. I'm seeing things." She shook her head, and ran her fingers through her tangled golden hair. Even closed her eyes, but when she opened them again, the bills were on her lap.

It was some minutes before she could get herself to count them, but when she did, fingering each one separately, she found she had $54—and 90 cents in change.

Aside from the four $1 bills were 10 $5 bills—crumpled, oldish looking bills all of them.

Had HE put them in her change purse? She counted them again to be sure, but she needn't have. The original amount was correct.

THE BUS TICKET

Something else that was strange to her on her lap, too. With the key to the bungalow and the key to the shop—for the change and the bills she was holding—was a small, stiff yellow stub.

She put down the bills and the change and picked up the yellow bit of paper that looked like a torn ticket. It was a ticket, she discovered, and it had been a complete ticket at one time.

What she held now was part of a bus ticket to San Francisco. Half of it had been torn away—much in the way a bus conductor tears part of the ticket away when he takes it—leaving the lower half with his rider. This was the lower half—the receipt.

Los Angeles to San Francisco, July 12—that was yesterday. The ticket had been purchased in Los Angeles, good for a trip to San Francisco on the Grey Bus Lines.

Part of it had been torn away—the part the driver usually took—the rest left with her...

A bus ticket in her purse... Had HE put it there with the $50 in $5 bills? And if he had put it there, why had he?

Her fingers slipped over the perforations at the edge of the ticket. First she had been kidnapped, and carefully kidnapped at that. "Quietly," she said. "Nobody in the court heard a sound. I couldn't even scream."

A CAR. Then she was taken out the back entrance to a car—driven all night—and left here this morning. This early morning. Fifty extra dollars in her purse, and this strange bus receipt, which was part of a ticket bought in Los Angeles yesterday.

The blanket, the things HE had around my mouth, my eyes, my wrists, my ankles...

She looked around for them, but couldn't see them. She got to her feet and beat the weeds for them, holding the bus receipt tight in her hands. They were no place about.

He had taken them with him. On the last trip to the car, he must have thrown them in...

A car came down the road going very fast. Nancy was standing looking around her. She didn't hear the car, nor realize it was a car until it was past her.

Then she waved frantically, but the car didn't stop. It turned on the same turn HE had taken, and then she lost it as she had lost HIM.

Mildred Harris Seeks Comeback in Burlesque

NEW YORK, (AP)—She was a star of the silent movies—she played in "Camille"—but today she's impersonating Greta Garbo in a Brooklyn burlesque house, trying to get a foothold again on the road up to "the big money."

There was a roll of drums at the theater on a Brooklyn side street, after a semi-strip tease act, and then someone introduced for the next number:

"The lovely little lady of stage and screen."

Maternal Love Only Chemicals, Says Professor

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Maternal love, glorified by countless poets, can be boiled down to a mere matter of chemicals, Dr. Elmer V. McCollum of John Hopkins university asserted last night.

"The lack of maternal instinct in a mother can be traced to a deficiency in manganese," Dr. McCollum told a University of Buffalo audience.

"Experiments have proven that lack of manganese will cause mother rats and guinea pigs to refuse to cuddle or nurse their young," he explained.

When the rats were fed an infinitesimal bit of manganese chloride the mother instinct immediately was awakened, he said.

From behind the curtains stepped Mildred Harris Chaplin, former wife of Charlie Chaplin. She sang, very simply, a song called "Where Are You?" and then she said she would impersonate Greta Garbo, a girl who was working in a Stockholm beauty parlor when Mildred Harris Chaplin was a Hollywood queen.

The burlesque patrons gave her an ovation.

"I'm going to take some singing lessons in about six weeks," she said in her dressing room afterward. "After six months, I hope to be ready for radio or light opera."

The man who is the hit of the show at the star theater is a comedian who gives an impersonation of Charlie Chaplin.

The authorized strength of the U. S. army is 165,000 enlisted men, 6415 Philippine scouts and 12,374 officers.

Willard School Notes

On Saturday, December 18, at 7 p. m. the streets of Santa Ana will be filled with music. The 20 best players in the Willard advanced orchestra, directed by Herbert Michel, will broadcast selections from the "Messiah" by Handel, "Christmas Fantasy" by Buergh, and "The Little Tin Soldiers" by Pierre through KVOE.

Miss Edith Cornell and Daniel Stover, Lathrop music instructors, will present their combined glee clubs singing Christmas carols.

Herbert Bickel of the high school will offer his girls' glee club singing some Yuletide songs. Selections by the high school brass and string quartet will conclude the program.

Christmas for many needy families will be made much happier this year by the distribution of gayly decorated boxes filled by the Willard students with non-perishable food. The boxes will be decorated by a committee of girls under the instruction of each homeroom representative. A prize of a free period will be given to the homeroom having the best box. A box for each homeroom appeared Monday morning, December 13, in the halls. By 10 o'clock Friday morning, December 17, when the drive will end, they will be judged and placed in the patio. Students interested may then go through the patio between classes and at noon to inspect them.

The planning and distributing of the boxes is an annual event in Willard and approximately 23 boxes are filled.

Friday, December 18, marked the first time to be sponsored by the Mexican Girl Reserve, at the Y. M. C. A. Dancing classes have been started to teach the members the latest steps.

A committee composed of Fred Avila, Rita Feliz, and Mary Morago, was appointed to determine when future dances will take place. Miss Marjorie McCullough and Herbert Thomas, Y. M. C. A. supervisors, are advisors for the group.

"Water and its every day uses" was the subject of a panel presented Thursday, December 9, under the direction of Mrs. Marion D. Scott in room 107. Doriene Clause acted as chairman. Members of her panel were Holly Blee, Jack Bell, Bill Davis, Joy Harris, Jim Mercer, Dorothy Bruth and David Earle.

Walton Bean was the principal speaker at the December 2 meeting of the Willard Hi-Y club. Future wars and the world situation was Mr. Bean's subject. Jack Baldwin was elected club athletic representative by a large vote which preceded Mr. Bean's talk.

A father and son banquet was proposed by Herbert Michel, club leader, which was enthusiastically received by the members. The banquet is to be held during the first week of January, the exact date to be announced later. The meeting was followed by the usual swim period.

With Sidronia Geck acting as Scrooge, members of the L-8 English class, under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Smith, will present Dickens' "Christmas Carol" to their classmates, Friday, December 17, in room 219.

Sam Barker will be cast as Fred, the nephew; Jack Gold, Bob Cratchit; Joel Newkirk and Billie Arnold, solicitors; Fred Castro, the Ghost of Marley; Vernon Bates, Mr. Fezziwig; Donna Tedrow, Mrs. Fezziwig, and Fred Perkins, Tiny Tim.

"Other English classes that would like to see this play are cordially invited to attend," Mrs. Smith said.

The combined L-9-D and C social science classes visited Judge Kenneth Morrison's court Monday, December 6. They were accompanied by their instructors, Miss Veda Ball and Walton E. Bean.

Judge Morrison explained fully to the classes the workings of the court before the case, that of a hit and run driver, was brought up. Several men were sentenced.

At the conclusion of the trial the students were "arrested" and sent to jail where Sheriff Jackson had them taken through the cells and the departments of identification and records.

Elaine Reed's poster for the operetta, "Merry Christmas," won the first prize of $1 and a 10 cent ticket in a contest held in Miss Marion Libby's Low 9 art class. Second prizes of 25 cent and 10 cent tickets were presented to Elaine Woodward, Juanita Robles, and Mary Bracamontes. The next five best posters received one 10 cent ticket each. These awards went to Mary Frances Flood, Rose Marie Sincox, Susan McPherson, Keith Davis, and Dan de Smet.

Merits judged were the technique of neatness, the painting, the color scheme, lettering, design, and how much the poster attracted the eye. Miss Helen Glancy, Miss Esther Jean Davis, Mrs. Anita Stewart, Mrs. Lucy Wright, and Robert Horn judged the posters which are now on display in the library.

"Dixon's Kitchen," a comedy play, was featured entertainment in a seventh grade assembly, Friday, December 10. Mary Jo Has-kell and Keith Jones played the leads of Annie Lee Dixon and Isley, while Ma and Pa Dixon were portrayed by Sallie Tiernan and Jack Howard. The little brother was characterized by Howard Bedford and the older brother, Gilmer Dixon, was by Winslow Porteous.

As a prelude to Christmas, Shirley Knipe presented a reading, "The Little Mixer," a Christmas story by Lillian Shearson.

After completing more than a quarter's work in their "Books of Practical Electricity," Norman Hicks' ninth grade electric shop class visited the Southern California Telephone company, December 2. "This trip was one of the many field trips planned by the class," Hicks said.

Fred Anderson, of the service department, first showed the boys the giant batteries that supply the current for all the telephone equipment in the building and lines. While still in the basement, they were shown a large emergency gas engine, that is used to take the place of the regular electric current, in case of an emergency.

The class was then taken upstairs to the operating room where Anderson explained how calls were received and the process of sending them out. After viewing the plant department, where all the calls come in and are split up to separate boards along with the generator for charging the batteries, the class was dismissed.

Those in the party were Charles Boquist, Juan Acosta, Avery Lay, Hollis Marston, Paul Benitez, Guillermo Gonzales, Fred Hotchkiss, Howard Hughett, Ralph McAndrew, Manuel Reta, Benjamin Ruiz, Clayton Skirvin, Carl Downs, Echo reporter and Mr. Hicks.

HANDBAG LOST
A handbag containing articles valued at $10 was lost by Miss M. E. Tyant, 523 West Walnut street, in a store on West Fourth street yesterday, she reported to police.

SPORTS Roundup

—By— EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—No fooling about those offers to Bernie Bierman. . . . Sewanee is said to have started the bidding with $12,000 and a big western school will start pitching as soon as it gets the go-ahead signal. . . . Rumored shake-up by the farmer-labor controlled U. of Minnesota board of regents may make Bernie a hot prospect. . . . Jimmy Hamilton will not leave Nashville to become general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and that's definite.

George Piggas, the old Yankee pitcher, who did a good job of umpiring in the New York-Farm league (now the Eastern) last season, is in line for a major league tryout. . . . SAINT SOPHS RECEIVE 25 MONOGRAMS

Sophomores who won the Citrus Belt league football championship will be awarded with 25 letters by their coach, Reece (Pinky) Greene. Four of the group—Bobbie Musick, Ralph Shallenberger and Ralph and Ross Barnes—will receive varsity monograms instead. At the close of their own season, they shifted to the varsity and aided their "big brothers" in winning the title.

The sophomores will be honored along with the varsity at the Saints' annual grid banquet in the American Legion hall Dec. 30. Leonard (Stub) Allison, University of California coach, will be the featured speaker.

Alabama's Big Red Eleven Heads West Next Tuesday

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's Big Red regiment leaves Tuscaloosa for Pasadena next Tuesday, pledged to carry on a victory torch passed down by four eleven undefeated in Rose Bowl football.

Set aflame by the 1925 Alabama team with a 20-19 victory over Washington, the torch flickered in 1927 in a 7-7 tie with Stanford, but blazed brightly when teams of 1930 and 1934 smashed Washington State, 24-0, and Stanford, 29-13.

Victory over California New Year's day would heighten the aura of tradition begun years ago by Pooley Hubert, Bill Buckner and other Alabama gridiron greats.

Possibility of a trip to Pasadena has been a conversational subject among Crimson Tiedmen throughout the 1937 season.

"Joe Kilgore and I often discussed the possibility of ending eight years of play together in the Rose Bowl," said Captain LeRoy Monsky, all-America guard, who played four years of high school football with Kilgore. "I hoped to get a trip to the Bowl sometime or other," said Hayward Sanford, first year goal-kicker whose boots aided Alabama to an undefeated season, "but I sure didn't expect it to be during my first year."

There is no cockiness in the players' attitude, but a determination they must not lose because of the victorious teams that have gone before.

Practice has been intensive since the invitation came from California officials.

And long after the rest of the squad has finished a day's work, Sanford, Kilgore and other placekickers have remained booting placements until dusk.

The players and Coach Frank Thomas realize offensive bombers like Dixie Howell and Don Hutson are lacking and the manpower of Freddie Sington and Poots Clement is gone. They know the Tide's chances for victory may rest on the toe of Sanford or Kilgore.

California will see only 11 red-shirted southern boys trot onto Rose Bowl field New Year's day, but a host of other redshirts—Nebulous, perhaps—will be with them. Johnny Mack Brown will be there, and John Cain, and "Ears" Whitworth, along with other men who fought for the "Big Red" in the past.

WILSON FIVE ASSURED OF 'Y' CROWN

Soundly thumping the Advent Christians, 27-21, last night, Al's Lock and Key Shop basketball quintet jumped back into a tie for second place in the Y. M. C. A. league but the win automatically awarded Wilson's Dairy five the first half title even though the dairymen lose their next two starts. Al's led at the half, 15-11, while Bill Kolkhorst kept them out in front with 12 points.

78 Cage Victories Lucky Red Necktie Worn by Coach in STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Coach W. J. Wisdom's lucky red necktie—it's won 78 straight basketball games for John Tarleton Junior college—faces its most severe test this season.

A man on relief, identity unknown, gave the 25-cent tie to Coach Wisdom four seasons ago. Wisdom wore it that night. Tarleton won—and has not lost a basketball game since.

Aircraft Ground Classes Now Starting for Jobs Open in February and March 1938!

Due to huge unfilled orders, the Aircraft Industry is entering upon a tremendous expansion program and will shortly have open a large number of "preferred" positions for "trained" Sheet Metal Mechanics, Welders and Draftsmen.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

If you are an American citizen, 18 or over, and have natural mechanical or engineering ability, it will pay you to talk with the Registrar of this school regarding the many new and profitable opportunities for regular employment for you in the Aircraft Industry.

The Aeronautical Institute of Technology (A.I.T.) offers you guaranteed training in sheet metal, welding, drafting, and aircraft mechanics.

These courses are short, practical, and in strict accordance with the best practices followed today by the major aircraft companies.

Write or telephone today for School Qualification Blank. This form explains the qualifications which you must have for immediate acceptance.

If you prefer, leave your name and address with this newspaper and a School Registrar will call on you personally.

Five Injured in Frisco Fire

OAKLAND. (AP)—Five firemen were injured slightly when they fell through the roof of the Neptune Seafood Grotto at Emeryville while fighting a $25,000 fire that swept the structure yesterday. In pre-prohibition days the cafe was known as Dugan's cafe and was operated by George Dugan.

Production Credit Association Meets

The annual meeting of the Orange County Production Credit Association will be held at the council chamber of the city hall Jan. 24, it was announced today by Secretary W. D. Miller. Approximately 200 members of the association in Orange county are expected to attend.

RFC ASKS 'CLEANUP' OF ACCOUNTS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was learned today, is planning to ask congress to write $2,500,000,000 of relief and other governmental loans off the corporation's books. An informed official said the request involved only a bookkeeping transaction and that the loans already have been listed as expenditures on the general treasury balance sheet.

The RFC, it was said, wishes to "clean up" its balance sheet of what have been described as "false assets" in order to improve the marketability of its securities, in case a new issue should be floated for railroad or other financing purposes. The action also would be designed to answer the criticism of Senator Byrd (D., Va.) and others, who have said the loans to the Works Progress administration and other government agencies actually were gifts. Items that might be wiped off the RFC books include $1,780,025,399 advanced for relief, $115,000,000 for crop loans, $124,494,000 for investments in the federal home loan bank system, $200,000,000 for stock in the Home Owners Loan corporation, $55,000,000 for stock in the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation, $185,500,000 advanced to the Farm Credit administration, and $57,000,000 advanced to the Federal Housing administration. Congress appropriated all these sums from RFC balances without making provision for repayment.

PACKERS ASK LOWER RATES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Sterling Meat corporation of Los Angeles and other packers and livestock shippers asked the interstate commerce commission today to readjust livestock freight rates from Montana to Los Angeles. The complaint, naming the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific and other railroads, alleged present rates were unfair.

The earliest record of shorthand dates from 63 B. C.

Yule Decorations Too Effective; They Halt Train

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Du Quoin's Christmas decorations were just too effective.

A city employee, railroad official said, placed a red light at the main street crossing. The Florida-bound passenger train came to an abrupt halt. Quickly the bulb was changed to green.

Air Mail Romance Ends in Wedding

NEW ORLEANS. (AP)—His air mail marriage proposal accepted, J. C. Terry, 51-year-old civil engineer employed in Brazil, was en route today to Hollywood, Calif., and his childhood sweetheart, the former Miss Clara Mulhall Hagan, 48-year-old divorcee, artist and writer in Hollywood. Three months ago he proposed by air mail and was accepted. After the wedding in Hollywood the couple will sail for Brazil where Terry owns a 10,000 acre ranch in the state of Sao Paulo. He is chief engineer for the Portland Cement company there.

"I went to Mexico and then to Brazil, where I married, and she married in the meantime, too," said Terry.

Eight months ago Terry's wife died and he began corresponding with Mrs. Clara Mulhall Hagan, 48-year-old divorcee, artist and writer in Hollywood. Three months ago he proposed by air mail and was accepted. After the wedding in Hollywood the couple will sail for Brazil where Terry owns a 10,000 acre ranch in the state of Sao Paulo. ## California Called Lottery Hot Spot

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The national conference for legalizing lotteries said today it had unconfined reports that ships anchored off the American shore were supplying speedboats with lottery tickets for smuggling into the United States.

"The territory within a radius of 100 miles of New York city is considered internationally the lottery sales paradise," the conference's "annual report" said. "California comes next as the 'hot spot,' New England, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Louisiana follow in the order named."

The conference is headed by Mrs. Oliver Harriman, New York society leader.

EXPORTS OF AIRPLANES SHOW GAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Exports of airplanes and airplane equipment from the United States during the first 10 months of this year were larger than in any previous complete year, the commerce department announced today.

The 10 months' exports totaled $31,088,911, compared with $23,- 055,761 in all of 1936, the record year.

The department also reported exports of $1,845,597 worth of planes in October.

Argentina bought 14 planes and Brazil 11. Other craft were shipped to Turkey, Peru, Canada and Mexico. Two planes went to China.

Club Denounces Poet-Congressman

GLENDAL. (AP)—Congressman
John Steven McGroarty was denounced in a resolution sent out today by the Democratic club of Glendale as not only having broken promises to support President Roosevelt, but as actively opposing him and the New Deal.

The resolution, introduced by Ralph Palmer, executive committee member and unanimously adopted, said McGroarty, "poet of Verdugo Hills," had received the undivided support of the Democrats for election as representative of the 11th congressional district in 1934 because of his promises to support President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

It denounced him for these "broken promises" and "for his unwarranted and unfair tactics in attacking the administration, thus breaking faith with his constituents."

'Toughest Felon' En Route Here

CANON CITY. (AP)—The convict labeled by Warden Roy Best as "the toughest inmate we have ever had behind Colorado prison walls" was en route to California today.

The prisoner, Jerry Brown, was being taken to the San Quentin prison in California by Guard Captain Lou Woodring. Best said
Brown, who had finished a nine-year term here, was wanted at San Quentin as a parole violator.

Brown was sentenced in Denver in 1928 to a term of 15 to 25 years for robbery. His term ended under an automatic parole.

At San Quentin, Woodring will claim Van Arden, who, Best said, has finished a term there but must serve out a Colorado sentence because he escaped from the prison farm in 1931.

Bank Announces Christmas Bonus

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—L. M.
Giannini, president of the Bank of America, announced today the bank has authorized a special Christmas distribution of $1,000,000 to more than 6000 employees.

Salary increases during the year amounted to $1,100,000, Giannini said, and the total payroll increased more than $2,100,000. The bank will also pay more than $500,- 000 into the employees pension and insurance fund for the year.

Brighten Up Corner
With Gorgeous Plants

Begonia and Fern Grow Easily
What a handsome pair — begonia and Boston fern—turning a dreary north window into a real beauty spot.

Brilliantly colored leaves and showy irregular flowers make the begonia a gay favorite. Begonias appreciate plenty of water but will stage a brave comeback after a few days' neglect.

The Boston fern's magnificent foliage adds charm to any room.
Soak your plant thoroughly every five days. Set it in water deep enough to cover the pot and leave it until air bubbles stop rising.

Ferns have two pet aversions—drafts and gas. They enjoy a cool even temperature, moisture in the air.

It's fascinating to start new plants from the runners most house plants send out. To persuade a runner to root, peg it to the soil with a small hairpin.

Enjoy ferns, foliage plants and flowers the year around. Our 32-page booklet gives valuable pointers on soil, light, temperature, pests. What to grow in window boxes, brackets.

LOW-PRICED MONOPLANE ON MARKET

All-Metal Craft to Sell for $1500

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Construction of a small all-metal monoplane to sell for about $1500 was announced by the Luscombe Airplane corporation of West Trenton today as it entered the race to provide airplanes economical enough for the average man.

The announcement was timed to the 34th anniversary of the first powered airplane flight by man. Orville Wright made the flight Dec. 17, 1903, and demonstration of the new Luscombe plane will be part of the anniversary program at Mercer airport tomorrow.

Don A. Luscombe, president of the corporation, said the plane was the first all-metal, "turret top" plane in its price range. Stamped like automobile parts by huge dies, the pieces of the plane can be made and assembled as efficiently as can those of automobiles, he claimed.

Luscombe said the plane could fly more than 100 miles an hour and get 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline. It is a two-person, high-wing craft with a 50-horsepower motor. The wingspread is 36 feet and overall length 19.

Made of aluminum alloys, the ship weighs only 600 pounds.

CAFE OPENS IN NEW DRESS

One of Santa Ana's best-known cafes takes a bow tonight—in a brand new dress.

Extensive remodeling of the Charcoal Broiler, Sixth and Main streets, was completed early today, and a new, streamlined restaurant emerged.

Formal opening of the new Broiler is slated for 5 p. m., Mr. and Mrs. John Galanis, managers, announced.

The restaurant has been completely renovated and modernized throughout, from the kitchen to the front door. New, streamlined red and chromium booths line each side of a long aisle. On the other side the new counter has been installed.

The kitchen, under management of Chef Thomas Koumias, "completely modern," Galanis said. For the reopening and holiday season a new shipment of steaks, lamb and other meats has been received from Kansas City and stored in the cafe's spacious refrigerators.

Galanis, with his reopening tonight, is celebrating the end of 18 consecutive years of business in Santa Ana.

He announced there would be no increase in prices, despite expense of renovating the Broiler.

Is Your Personality Clicking?

By DALE CARNEGIE

Here's something to think about when you go forth to bag a job. And that is—your personality getting over? If it isn't you might just as well close the door outward bound.

Henry C. Link who wrote the book, "The Return to Religion," was on my radio program, and I asked him what "personality" was, and this is what he said:

"Personality is the extent to which a person has developed habits which successfully influence other people. For instance, a homely girl who can play the piano entertainingly has a better personality than the homely girl who cannot."

Ernest Lawton is the man who hires the employees for one of the large New York department stores. He told me that his store received about 150,000 applications a year, and of this number the store puts only 10 per cent on the "possible" list.

I asked him why so many of them failed.

"Many are experienced and some present a very neat physical appearance," he said, "but if we are not impressed by their personality we turn them down. We consider personality more important than a college education."

Sometimes my ego rises and fills me with a degree of self complacency which might still all my ambition if it lasted long enough. This is when I stop to realize that in certain respects no multi-millionaire has anything on me. For instance, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., can't enjoy a good book any more than I can; Andrew Mellon himself couldn't see his wonderful collection of oil paintings with any better vision than mine; Lindbergh can't soar over a city and respond to a single thrill that is denied me; the autumn woods are there for me and for you as they were for John

Burroughs; Luther Burbank never enjoyed his plant wizardry a whit more than I enjoy purchasing a shrub and sticking it down into the earth and tamping it with my foot, then sitting back and watching it grow. Yes, when I think of all the joys I can have at so little cost, I might, if I didn't really enjoy my work and had no responsibility, even drop back and apply for a place on the relief roll.

RETAIL TRADE BOOMS OVER NATION

NEW YORK. (AP)—As shoppers swarmed into stores to buy Christmas gifts and winter merchandise, retail trade this week jumped 4 to 10 per cent above last week for the country as a whole, and ran 3 to 12 per cent above last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Earlier lag in the buying of Christmas and seasonal merchandise was replaced by a concerted forward lunge at most leading centers of distribution," said the credit agency.

"Christmas shopping superseded other consumer buying in retail stores this week, which pushed sales on some days to a new high for the period. Because of the recent shift to moderately-priced items, gains over last year's comparative frequently were restricted. While unit sales in many instances were of small denominations, their multiplicity cut deeply into inventories, removing merchants' apprehensions of heavy carry-overs."

Seasonable dullness was accentuated in a number of principal wholesale markets, Dun & Bradstreet said, but volume for the street said, but volume for the country as a whole was 1 to 5 per cent above the comparative 1933 week. Rush replacement orders for Christmas gifts and heavy apparel contributed most of the activity.

Buying of gifts in the New England states lifted retail sales up to last year's level for the first time in several weeks, it was reported. Retail sales in the East were 4 to 10 per cent above a year ago, in the Middle West up 6 to 15 per cent, in the Northwest up 5 to 12 per cent, South 3 to 8 per cent, Southwest 4 to 10 per cent, and Pacific coast 2 to 5 per cent.

Bulletin Board Christmas Cards

Innovation of sending Christmas cards via the service clubs' bulletin board appeared this week at Santa Ana Junior college.

Men and women's service clubs exchanged holiday greetings with each other in an impromptu holiday spirit, appearing and "appreciated as though it were a remembrance," it was indicated.

Campus service clubs and presidents include Bachelors, Dave Phoenix; Junior Lions, Marvin Hinton; Los Gauchos, Lawrence Trickey; Buccaneers, Jerry Hawkins; sisterhood of Spinners, La Vonne Franson; Las Meninas, Billie Johnson; Little Gitanas, Betty West; Moaves, Evelyn Richards; and Piloteers, Nina June Robertson.

In yesterday's Journal it was stated that the Edison company had donated a crew to decorate the Christmas tree at Junior college. This was an error. The crew was furnished by the Electrical Contractors council of Orange county south.

Two Farm Centers To Hold Parties

Pre-Christmas celebrations will be held by two orange county farm centers next week, the Yorba Linda group meetings Monday at the Yorba Linda women's club house and the West Orange center convening Tuesday at farm bureau headquarters.

John C. Tuffree, Placentia world traveler and photographer, will show motion pictures of his travels through the African jungles at the Yorba Linda meeting, and Harold E. Wahlberg will give highlights of last month's state convention in Modesto.

At West Orange, a Christmas entertainment in charge of Walter Goetz will highlight Tuesday's meeting. E. G. Warner will give a report on farm bureau activities, said the credit agency.

Funeral Rites for Placentia Man

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. today from McAulay and Suters mortuary, Fullerton, for Marshall Steen, 31, resident of Placentia for many years, who died Wednesday in an Orange hospital after a long illness.

Survivors are his widow, Beatrice Rose Steen; his mother, Mrs. Emma Steen, Anaheim; three brothers, P. V. Steen, Coulterville, Owen Steen, Fullerton, and L. V. Steen, Placentia, and two sisters, Mrs. Lydia Collins, Floydada, Texas, and Mrs. Nell Morris, Anaheim.

The Rev. D. J. Brigham, pastor of the Placentia Presbyterian church, Placentia, officiated. Burial was in Loma Vista cemetery.

Red Cross Appeals For Flood Funds

The Orange county Red Cross today launched a drive to assist in raising a $30,000 flood relief fund throughout the state, to help care for refugees of northern California inundations.

Dr. John Wehrly, chairman, said the local chapter had been given no quota to raise, but would accept voluntary contributions to assist in rehabilitation work.

Five California counties are in need of help, Wehrly pointed out. They are Yuba, Colusa, Fresno, Kings and Modoc counties. The Red Cross reported 474 families in the flood areas are being given assistance.

Two Pedestrians Knocked Down

Two pedestrians were knocked to the pavement on Santa Ana streets yesterday, but neither was injured.

Little Patricia Kasper, 920 Fairview, was struck by a truck driven by James Vernon Cheyne, 822 Fairview street, as she ran across Flower street, but she sustained only shock.

Eva Craig, 20, 607-B East Pine street, was struck by W. B. Jennings, 56, 610 West Fifth street, as she crossed Fifth street at Van Ness. She was not seriously hurt.

40 WARSHIPS BACK U. S. IN ORIENT

List of Vessels in War Zone Announced

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Forty warships of the Asiatic fleet, including six river gunboats of the type of the bombed Panay, were in Chinese and nearby Philippine waters today, navy records showed.

American commercial vessels in the Far East included the stranded liner President Hoover, ashore off the coast of Formosa and several other liners plying their regular routes to Japanese, Chinese and Philippine ports.

Officers and men of the Asiatic fleet numbered approximately 4850.

At Shanghai were the cruiser Augusta, flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the fleet; the cruiser Marblehead, the Sacramento, a gunboat; the destroyers Stewart, Parrott and Pope, and the Bridge, an auxiliary.

Five river patrol ships, the Luzon, Guam, Monocacy, Gahu and Tutuila, were in the upper Yangtze river, while at Canton was the lone vessel of the South China patrol, the Mindanao.

Other war craft in China were: At Swatow, gunboat Asheville; Amoy, gunboat Tulsa; Tsingtao, destroyers Bulmer and Edsall.

Seven destroyers and six submarines were reported at Manila, winter base of the fleet, some 1500 miles from Shanghai, along with other ships, as follows:

Black Hawk, destroyer tender; Whipple, Alden Barker, John D. Edwards, Pillsbury, Peary and John D. Ford, destroyers; Canopus and Pigeon, submarine tenders and the six submarines; Bittern, Finch and Heron, aircraft tenders; Penguin and Pecos, auxiliaries and the Isabel, armed yacht of Admiral Yarnell.

At sea between Manila and Guam was the transport Gold Star. The transports Chaumont and Henderson were in the Eastern Pacific, between Honolulu and San Francisco.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

The Dec. 14 issue of the Riverside Daily Press comments editorially on the "Age Problem in Industry." The article points out the tendency on the part of large industries to place an age limit for the employees who are newly hired at 40 years. The suggestion is made by quoting others, including Clair Ross, state treasurer of Pennsylvania that the Old Age Security Act when in full operation will tend to the hiring of older men. This will be done, according to the editorial because of the cost which will accrue to industry through the levying of the three per cent tax in an attempt to cut such contribution down.

An illustration is given of a superintendent of a certain industry having in mind the hiring of a man 43 years of age, who by reason of his knowledge, experience, training and all-around ability was particularly fitted for employment. The management, however, because the man was three years past 40 promptly vetoed his being hired. The Press in commenting on this bit of news, says:

"To our minds this is the silliest of all the silly rules by which industry blinds itself and stands in its own way. Here was a man at his very best; a better man than he had ever been in all his life. Perfect physically and equally as perfect mentally. The industry to which he applied for work was in his case offered an exceptional opportunity for its own good. But there was the dead line. He was three years more than 40 years of age and the castiron rule barred him. We can think of nothing that equals this in sheer senselessness."

The state treasurer of Pennsylvania is said to have prophesied that the Social Security Act will result in the hiring of more elderly men and the Press, commenting, says: "If so, the Social Security Act 'benefits' will be more far-reaching than has been anticipated."

This column argues that the barring of men past 40 is indeed silly as the Press says, but when there are not enough jobs to go around to both young and old, he wonders just where the benefits will come in if an older man is hired and a younger man is then left without employment? When will editors and others learn that the problem of competition between old and young for jobs available will continue as long as millions of Americans are compelled to remain unemployed? Giving of a younger man's job to an older man, or the giving of an older man's job to a younger man won't solve the problem of employment now facing the nation.

By some hook or crook the competition now existing on such a large scale between workers must be eliminated and sufficient uplift in business volume created so that all can have work. Large scale competition between workers will only be solved by increased volume of business which will necessitate the labor services of the unemployed now numbering into the millions. Such business volume cannot be obtained without there is created a market which such workers both old and young when employed would bring about.

What big business, editors, and workers, need to know is that the basis of all our troubles in the nation is economic. And that until a proper and correct method of circulating money has been effected our national problems will remain. The Townsend transaction tax applied nationally in conjunction with other Townsend plan principles is the remedy for unemployment for both the young and old. The Social Security Act may result in more employment for men past 40 as the Press suggests but if in doing so it displaces younger men also needing jobs it won't be much of a remedy.

Trio Rescued From Flames

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—A dancer and another woman were carried down a three-story ladder to safety by firemen yesterday, when a blaze damaged a building in the financial district. Damage was $5000.

The dancer, Vivian Wall, said she was practicing when she smelled smoke. She hurriedly threw costumes and photographs into the street. Hettie Brown, a building employee, suffered a burned hand when she grasped a hot doorknob in attempting to escape.

streets to enjoy a Christmas exchange party. Walter Schulz is president of this club.

Mrs. Frank Morris, president of the Ladies Townsend Afternoon club announces a Christmas party at her home at 515 South Broadway at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. Refreshments will be served and a general good time enjoyed.

When you read this it will be time to get your go-to-meeting clothes on if you want to get in on the oyster supper being served at 6:30 o'clock tonight by Santa Ana Club No. 11 in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street. Christmas music by a trio of ladies and a speaker will be featured in the 7:30 Townsend meeting that follows the supper.

U. S. LIQUOR IMPORTS GAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Holiday supplies of foreign liquor in the United States should be adequate. The treasury announced today that imports of such liquor declined in October, but for the first 10 months of the year were far ahead of the similar period last year.

In October, 1,666,877 gallons of distilled liquor were brought into the country, compared with 2,273,911 in September, imports of still wines totaled 244,838 gallons. For the 10 months, imports of distilled liquor totaled 13,639,805 gallons, still wines 2,786,426 gallons, and sparkling wines 507,414 gallons.

Isolated Town Gets Mail by Air

WILLOWS. (AP)—A plane delivered mail for the first time in local history yesterday when pouches were dropped in flood-isolated Butte City.

Bread was taken by boat to Butte City and Princeton. The water began receding slowly and it was believed automobiles would reach both towns by tonight. A check showed all persons reported missing were safe.

'Richest' Cat Called by Death

NEW ORLEANS. (AP)—Kit-cat, a little black cat which inherited $10,000 10 weeks ago from her former mistress, is dead of an intestinal ailment.

The death was reported by Dr. J. E. Karstendiek, veterinarian at whose pet hospital Kit-Cat was boarded.

J. J. Miranne, who was left in charge of the cat in a codicil to the will of Mrs. L. C. Beneke, the mistress, said that after Kit-Cat's death the money was to go to Misses Rena and Nettie Westfall of Princeton, Ind., cousins of Mrs. Beneke.

Woman Prisoners Raise Vegetables

TEHACHAPI. (AP)—Prisoners at the state prison for women here are raising barley, wheat, potatoes, corn, alfalfa and pears on 800 acres, Ira B. Guthrie, farm superintendent, reported today.

There are 1680 acres in the prison farm, with slightly more than half of it yet to be cultivated. Guthrie, who lives with his wife at the farm, has just been appointed superintendent by Miss Florence Monahan, prison head. He is a graduate of the University of California agricultural college and formerly lived in Susanville.

FIRMS PAY EARLY TO BRIGHTEN HOLIDAY

MORE THAN $50,000 TO BE RELEASEDCity Employees Get
Jan. 1 Checks Early

"Jingle Bells," the popular, old Yuletide ditty, will be competing for supremacy with the jingle of United States money during the next few days as hundreds of local employees receive their first-of-the-month checks several days in advance of Christmas.

Santa Ana's city employees, for example, customarily paid the first day of each month, will have their January 1 checks in their possession, aggregating $20,000, a day or more before Christmas.

Timekeeper Kemp Keeler and his staff were burning adding machines up with activity at the WPA office yesterday checking and rechecking a $21,209 payroll due Orange county project workers on December 29 so that the employees will have their money on the 23rd or 24th of this month.

From the Southern California Telephone and Telegraph company comes word that its semi-monthly payroll, which runs into thousands of dollars, will be advanced from Dec. 22 to Dec. 20.

The Southern California Gas company will pay its employees tomorrow. One division of the company alone will release $13,500.

Uncle Sam opened his safe at the Santa Ana postoffice yesterday to distribute $5,435 to its postal employees at this time.

A number of other public and private businesses here are presenting salaries and bonuses several days ahead of Christmas, thereby putting additional money into circulation.

I JUST FOUND
OUT— Art in Controlled
Photography

By MILLARD BROWNE

A camera, to most photographers, is just a device with which to snap pictures, and a darkroom is where to go to make a print of whatever was in front of the lens. But to William Mortensen, exponent of "controlled photography," a camera is a means of artistic expression.

Mortensen runs a school of photography in Laguna Beach, has had students from all over the United States. He also runs a school of thought effects from one negative, which looks at a picture as a potential work of art rather than just a scientific recording of the subject photographed.

Control in the Mortensen studio is used in every step of picture-taking—except in the actual process of snapping the shutter. He controls his composition, subjects, lighting and developing, yet is most revolutionary about the way he controls the printing, can get a dozen different effects from one negative, depending on how he goes about making an enlargement.

The Laguna artist-photographer has no quarrel with "pure" or scientific photography, which he sets down as a completely different field. He is thoroughly disgusted with candid cameracraft, however.

That's because he figures it's an unjust invasion of privacy that tends to stress the worst features of a person. "Unmerciful photographing of people whose business it is to appear advantageously has killed many of them professionally," Mortensen charges.

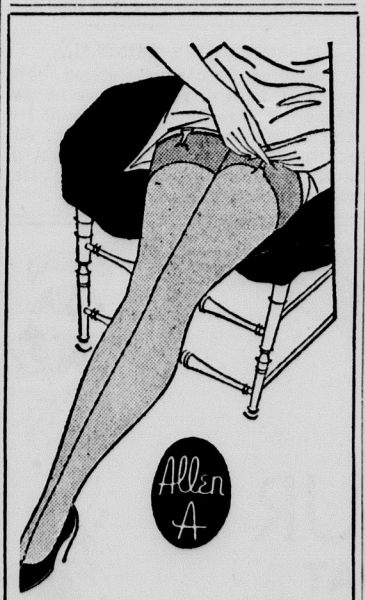

Main function of controlled photography, he explains, is to alter the subject's normal appearance in such a way as to bring out the beautiful or interesting features and suppress the unattractive or uninteresting ones.

In two years of photographing, Mortensen estimates he's made 5,000,000 exposures, frequently takes two or three hundred "shots" before he gets one he considers worth printing.

Originally interested in etching, Mortensen had a knowledge of art principles before he ever touched a camera. Now he's become so familiar with his camera that the mere act of snapping a picture is routine, leaves him free to worry about his subject matter and composition.

Recognized as an expert on technique and elementary principles, the Laguna teacher has had four books on photography widely accepted among amateur and professional cameramen. The books are on posing, pictorial lighting, projection control and artistic photography, will include a new number on pictorial composition later this month.

Mortensen admits photography

RAINS ALLOW
CREW CUT

Eighteen fire suppression men under the employ of the state division of forestry have been laid off duty since the first rain of the season, according to Joe Sherman, state forestry ranger at Orange.

The crews were maintained during the summer months to assist in fire prevention work in the forests of Orange county. Ten of them were stationed at Orange, four at Trabuco, three at Yorba Linda and one at San Juan Capistrano.

STORK HOVERS OVER TRAIN

BARSTOW, (AP)—The stork again proves he has no respect for modern-day speed. Speeding eastward on a passenger train in the belief she would be at her home in Philadelphia in time for the birth of her child, Mrs. Marie Smyle, 24, became the mother of a son in a sleeping car as it sped across the desert near here.

uses only two instruments—a miniature leica and a 3 1/4 x 4 1/4 English reflex—to take his pictures.

Though he figuratively looks at the world through a lens, the Laguna photographer says it took him 10 years to translate what he saw before a camera into what he would see on the print.

Because he tries to suppress the model's personality in order to create an idea or a dramatic meaning, Mortensen's biggest difficulty is getting models to wear the exact expression he wants. "If you're painting a model, you can change the expression, but in a photograph the pose has to be accurate," he explains.

In his constant search for acceptable models, Mortensen tries out around 30 men and women every month, gives Santa Ana a plug by the remark: "The best models I've had—and some of the prettiest in the world—come from Santa Ana."

Though he doesn't mind being termed professionally radical or pooh-phooed by representatives of the school of pure photography, Mortensen indignantly denies that he achieves control by "doping" or "retouching" pictures, and says he's never touched a print with paint brush or pen in order to get an effect.

SANTA WHITE FOX
by SIGRID ARNE

SHE LOOKED STARTLED WHEN SHE SAW THE SAILOR

THE STORY SO FAR: The white fox has asked the sailor and the tiny squirrel into his den, not knowing that they have come to rescue Helga, the doll, which the fox stole from toyland.

Chapter 17
POOR HELGA

The white fox led the sailor and the tiny squirrel into his den. He asked the sailor to be seated. He sat down himself.

"This time, too, he tapped on the floor, and a little door opened, and two moles came up some stairs.

"Dinner," said the white fox. "Yes, sir," said the moles, and they went back down the stairs.

While this was going on the sailor looked quickly about for a trace of Helga. In the corner of the room he saw her ermine cape on a footstool.

"Now, let's see the squirrel," said the fox. The sailor handed him the tiny squirrel and it ran up the white fox's paw to his shoulder and tickled his big, peaked ear.

"Ho, ho," laughed the fox. "I never saw anything like it." "Er—" hesitated the sailor, trying to look as though it were unimportant, "you have such a fine home, I'm surprised you live here all alone."

THE PRISONER
The white fox squinted at the sailor very hard for a moment. They he grinned, saying, "You know, you look so much like one of Santa's dolls that I hesitated to invite you in a while ago."

"Is that so?" said the sailor looking very innocent. "Well," said the fox, "I have a Christmas present, a doll by the name of Helga. But she wants to go away so I've put her below stairs with the servants. We'll have her for dinner."

Just then the trap door opened in the floor and the two neat moles returned with six other moles all carrying trays heaped with dishes for dinner.

"Send Helga up," ordered the white fox.

The sailor had never seen Helga but he had heard much about her. He was a little surprised when he saw her. She came up the stairs very slowly and looked around as though she were afraid. She looked startled when she saw the sailor.

"COME HERE!"
"Here's a nick-nack for you," said the fox and he handed her the tiny squirrel. She stroked it very carefully with one finger.

"Come here," said the fox suddenly in a rough voice.

Helga approached him slowly. "Have you got over that notion that you want to go back to toyland?" the fox growled fiercely.

Helga didn't say a word. "You are my Christmas present, and you're going to stay here," he said.

A big tear trickled down Helga's white cheek.

Tomorrow: Outwitting the fox.

OLD PLAY

The old happy story of the Birds' Christmas Carol was told again last night in Anaheim. Members of the preparatory department of the Marywood school presented the playlet before their parents and friends.

Music was by the school orchestra and glee club, under direction of Sister Rita Cecile.

Included in the cast were: Ann F. Scully, Mrs. Bird; Helen A. Hathaway, Carol; Joy Ransom, the maid; Virginia Cox, Sarah Maud; Arlene Zamboni, Peter; Jean Louise Robinson, Peoria; Salile Fiske, Susan; Patricia Dolan, Cornelius; Gene Mustain, Baby Larry; Julia McGovern, Santa Claus, and Patricia Coffin, Brownie.

Tonight the high school will present its annual Christmas program.

EVANGELIST
MURDER CASE

MERCER, Pa. (AP)—The Rev. D. T. Thomas, 65-year-old retired evangelist, interrupted his trial for the slaying of his wife and a boarder in their home yesterday by pleading guilty to a voluntary manslaughter charge.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, 45, and Frank Hodge, 75, were found shot to death in the Thomas home last Oct. 18.

Judge George H. Rowley deferred sentence. Pennsylvania law provides a maximum penalty of a six to 12-year prison sentence on the charge.

STAR'S GRANDMOTHER DIES
SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Mary Levy, grandmother of Paulette Goddard of the motion pictures. J. R. Levy of New York City, father of Miss Goddard, accompanied his mother's body here from San Francisco.

Initial Rites Performed In Church

Beauty Characterizes Lindsay-Sprague Wedding

The spacious beauty of Santa Ana's new First Presbyterian church was a fitting setting last night for nuptial rites which joined Miss Marjorie Helen Lindsay and Weston Finley Sprague, members of leading Orange county families. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland conducted the ceremony, the initial wedding in the beautiful new building.

The altar of the church was banked with immense baskets of lovely white flowers, with glowing white candelabra and potted palms. Along the aisle, and marking the families' places were lighted white tapers in tall holders.

Pacing down the aisle on the arm of her father, A. J. Lasby, the bride was exquisite in a period style gown of ivory slipper satin, caught at the waist with a girle of pearls, and flowing into a long pointed train. A short face veil, which extended into a long train in the back fell from a beautiful pointed Juliet cap.

A small shower bouquet of lilies of the valley trailed from a dainty white prayer book, which had been the gift of the bride's great-grandfather to his bride more than 100 years ago. Completing the bride's traditions, the new Mrs. Sprague borrowed a ring, carried a tiny heart-shaped blue sash, and wore a lucky sixpence from England in her shoe.

Miss Gladys Machie of Alhambra attended the bride as maid of honor, since Mrs. Floyd Blower, who was to have been matron of honor, was unable to attend because of illness. Miss Machie wore a princess style frock of rose brocade moire, with a tiny face veil of rose from a flower headpiece. She carried a sheaf of gladioli shading from a light blush to darker rose.

Four bridesmaids were gowned in similar frocks and headpieces in aquamarine brocade moire, and carried sheafs of rose-colored gladioli. They were Catherine McKinley of Belleville, Ill., cousin of the bride, Mrs. Robert Wimbush and Miss Marian Hawley of Santa Ana, and Miss Elouise Ward of Taft.

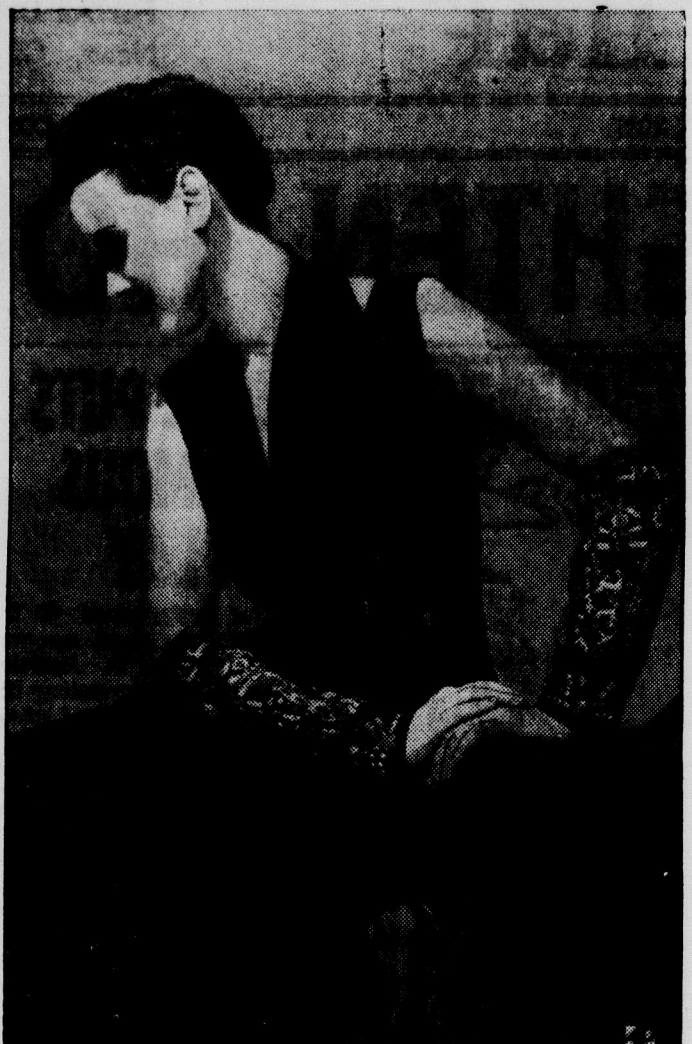

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Clarence E. Sprague, as best man. Ushers for the nuptials were W. Kenneth Lindsay of Los Angeles, brother of the bride, Jack Rogers of Los Angeles, Carlton Rogers of Monrovia and Robert D. Spurgeon of Santa Ana.

Throughout the ceremony, soft music was played at the organ by Halstead McCormack, who played a short recital preceding the rites. More than 400 guests gathered in the lovely new church parlors to greet the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, parents of the groom, joined the wedding party in the receiving line. Mrs. A. J. McCadden and Mrs. John Tessonman presided at the bride's table centered with white flowers in a silver bowl and flanked with white tapers. At two side tables centered with dusty rose carnations in silver bowls were Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Emily Munro, Mrs. J. F. Burke and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless.

Assisting in serving during the reception were Mrs. Jessie White, Mrs. Chester Hawk, Mrs. Myrtle Sexton, Mrs. Hazel Turner, Mrs. Theo Wimbush, Mrs. E. C. Crandson, Mrs. Frank Hanson, Mrs.

EMBROIDERED ARMLETS

Bright embroidered armlets—gayer than any cavalier's gauntlets—go to dinner with this simple black crepe frock by Schiaparelli. Reds, blues, greens and golds mingle in their vivid coloring. Mariene Dietrich included this frock in her new Paris wardrobe.

DEMOLAY GROUP HAS CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

In the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink at 1604 East Fourth street members of the Orange County Demolay alumni, Occidemia society, and their guests enjoyed an informal Christmas party last evening.

Decorations in the home were appropriate for the season, with a large lighted Christmas tree in one corner. Packages were piled at the bottom of the tree and later distributed to the guests by Mr. Fink.

Bunko provided the entertainment during the evening, with high prizes in ladies' and men's divisions being won by Miss Lillah Erbenstraut and Bill Sylvester. A dessert course was served at the small card tables with Occidemia members assisting the hostess at this time.

Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink and Lila May, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Frazee, Miss Lillah Erbenstraut, Miss Edna Wilson, Miss Dorothea Dixon, Miss Jane Austin, Miss Lucille Stoker, Bob Pedias, Bill Davis, Victor Fells, Bob Read, Abe Bergsetters, Howard Quiggle, Ray Johnson, John Schrier, Shelley Horton, John Birt and George Matthew.

W. J. Lindsay, Mrs. G. N. Greer and Miss Helen Greer.

Following the reception, the bride, attired in an attractive blue wool ensemble with black Persian lamb trim and black suede accessories, and groom, left for a trip to New York via the Panama canal. They will make their home in Boston, while the bridegroom attends the Harvard School of Business Administration.

The charming blonde bride is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and the University of California at Berkeley, where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Sprague was also graduated from the local high school, and later Pomona college, where he was a Phi Delta.

Installation Is Formal Affair

The lovely colors of formal gowns mingled with severe black and white of tuxedos and the festive hues of the Christmas season last night to make an impressive background for the annual installation of officers of Santa Ana Kiwanis club, held at the Santa Ana Country club. But though formally held away in attire and in the ceremonious procedure of the dinner affair, a light-hearted conviviality was apparent throughout the entire group of nearly 200 Kiwanians, their special guests and ladies.

Outstanding on the program was induction of new officers by Dr. Homer A. Nelson of Fullerton, Kiwanis lieutenant governor. His solemn words conveyed the oath of office to Maurice Enderle as president, Lyle Mitchell as vice president, R. C. Raddant as secretary, and Ellis Diehl, re-elected treasurer, as well as to the new board of directors, on which are Claude O. Knox, A. C. Hasenauer, Sam Hurwitz, Cood Adams, Wilbur Barr, B. B. Carmichael and Harry Harlow.

Seven long tables were set at right angles to the speaker's table, and all were beautifully decorated with pencil-slim red tapers nestled in silvered nests alternating with striking silvered shrubbery sprays and scarlet and silver ornaments. Table adornments were repeated in the beautiful silver and red wall decorations of the country club and in the lovely tree that filled one corner of the ballroom where Lee Mann's orchestra later played for dancing.

Presiding over the affair was R. B. Newcom, president for the past year. At his right was Mrs. Newcom, wearing a lovely frock of brown bodice with gold skirt. After opening songs and an impressive invocation delivered by the Rev. A. E. Kelly, who later presented handsome gifts to Whitford Hall and Arthur Cannon, musical director of the club, for their appreciated efforts with the membership during the year, a number of beautiful musical selections were heard.

Featured first was the Kiwanis chorus, directed by Mr. Hall, and the melodious voices of the Kiwanis club members were listened to with intense interest and appreciation by the audience. Of great beauty, too, were the solos presented by Willard Bassett.

Seated at the table of honor were a number of visiting dignitaries who were introduced by President Newcom as special guests of the club. Included among those and others who made their bows were Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy from the Rotary club, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwood from the club, John Knox, Jr., and Miss Florence Turner from the Twenty-Third club, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guild from the Santa Ana Journal, and Mr. and Mrs. Manley Nelson from the Kiwanis club, as well as the installing officers and Lieut. Gov. Elect Raymond Temple and Mrs. Temple of Buena Park.

A highlight of the evening before the installation rites was an address by the Rev. Harry Evan Owens, who chose to discuss in stimulating fashion "Three Methods of Evaluating Ourselves," making the point that as long as man is growing mentally, his actual age is of no consideration. His illustrations were extremely colorful and to the point, as he presented the three premises of his talk, bidding his fellows always "look out of windows instead of into mirrors, strive constantly to reach the peak of performance, and open up themselves to the highest."

Outstanding among the lovely gowns noted at the affair, which was completed by dancing and by card games, were those worn by officers' wives. Mrs. Enderle, wife of the new president, was especially lovely in white with silver jacket embroidered in gold. Mrs. Mitchell wore crisp black net, Raddant was in taffeta with red accents, and Mrs. Diehl was in dark blue velvet.

The committee in charge of the affair, headed by Lyle Moore and Mrs. Moore, was composed of Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Earell, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Souther, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harness, and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland.

Party Series Ended With Luncheon

Once again extending the charming hospitality which has been characteristic of her all during the autumn and winter social season, Mrs. I. F. Landis yesterday was hostess at another of the several affairs at which she has entertained in the Pacific Coast club.

A Christmas motif was pursued in table appointments, with gleaming scarlet and silver offset by the white linen and sparkling crystal which made a gracious and formal setting for the luncheon.

Mrs. Landis was assisted in receiving and checking her guests by Mrs. R. C. Holles, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, and Mrs. Ray Chandler, and at the close of the afternoon, she presented high score prizes to Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon and Mrs. James Irvine.

Her guests included the Mesdames John Ball, George Briggs, J. H. Burns of Wichita, Kan., Marguerite Borgmeyer, Frederick Dunstan, Paul Dinsmore, H. T. Dunning, Lloyd Chenoweth, Ray Chandler, Lyman Farwell, The Mesdames A. G. Flagg, Will Flood of Pasadena, E. R. Gregory of Los Angeles, Edward Hall, Roy H. Hall, Sara J. Haddon, J. K. Hermon, R. C. Holles, James Irvine, Leonard Jones of Laguna, Rex Kennedy, Hugh J. Love.

The Mesdames Herbert Miller, J. E. Liebig, J. W. Morse of Long Beach, B. J. MacMullen, Mortimer Plum, Norman Pixley, Howard Rapp, Mowat Timmons, Dixon Tubbs, H. B. Van Dien, Z. B. West, William Thornton White, E. D. Whitte, Emil Wagner, and R. C. Harrison of Des Moines, Ia.

TOROSA P. N. G.'S NAME NEW OFFICERS

New officers of the Past Noble Grand association of Torosa Rebekah were elected at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Maude Lentz, 1325 Grace street, yesterday.

Mrs. Laura Tramel, president, announced the new officers: Ada Spencer, president; Ethel Brown, vice president; Minnie Squires, secretary; Mary Kuhl, treasurer; Jean Tremble, chaplain; Leona Talbot and Estelle Grey, flowers, and Maude Lentz, presiding.

Christmas decorations of red berries and a decorated tree. Gifts were exchanged before a glowing fire.

Co-hostesses included the Mesdames Laura Tramel, Mary Kuhl, Jean Tremble and Minnie Squires. Lovely flowers were sent in by Mrs. Leona Talbot and Mrs. Eva Cartwright.

Members present were the Mesdames Blanche Chandler, Hazel Monsele, Lucille Rathbone, Ethel Brown, Mary Kuhl, Fannie M. Wilson and Maude Lentz.

PHI OMEGAS EXCHANGE GIFTS

Exchanging Christmas gifts highlighted the Phi Omega sorority which met Wednesday evening at the home of Ruth McBurney, 401 E. Washington street.

President Mrs. Lester Boyle lead discussion during the business session which was held previous to the evening's entertainment.

Christmas plays and songs appropriate to the holiday season furnished the program presented for new pledges, Santa Claus was played by Billy McBurney, the hostess' younger brother.

Refreshments were served from card tables, filling the room with a Christmas theme. Those present were hostess Mrs. Ruth McBurney and the Mesdames Gertrude Vaughan, Annie Tucker, Hazel Oliphant, Helen Fink, Ruth Wasson, Jean Upshall, Mrs. Lester Boyle, Mrs. Ronald Vincent and Mrs. James Van Schoick. Pledges included the Mesdames Frances White, Minna Brooks, Ann Whakeham and Mrs. Charles White.

Mary Stoddard

An Old Contributor Suggests We Tell Christmas Tales to Kindle Spirit

Our holiday roll call of old correspondents has brought one more to write "present and accounted for." We haven't heard from "Libra" for several months. Even though it is the busiest season of the year for we womenfolk, she has taken time off to send us her greetings: Dear Miss Stoddard: My good wishes for the column readers.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

Christmas parties are with us now, and every woman is on tip-toes planning just what she shall wear. This much I know, moderns who go places and do things cannot face the season without an entire costume of the dressy afternoon type. Call it cocktail—matinee—whatever you like—but this is the costume which accepts just about every exciting invitation from noon 'til night—and many a time at night as well.

It is not long-skirted. That is one of the modish quirps of this season most particularly. And here in California where fashion developments of our own have always favored long skirts, this may be a bit difficult to understand sometimes. But this is fashion. And what is more, this costume is not light-colored. Nine times out of ten it will be black, but it can be wine red or blue or just about anything on the "town" side of the color scale.

Far better will it be to have just one such a costume—but that one complete. For the frock is not the costume. Nor is the coat the costume. It is the attuned combination of wrap, frock, hat, shoes, bag, gloves, jewelry and even hankies!

A perfect example might be the Persian-trimmed black cloth coat—black crepe frock with gold and silver slippers with bag to match—dashing black hat with a bit of gold on it—a dramatic swing of new gold beads at the throat—beige gloves.

Or there might be the brown fur coat—and the green or rust frock of crepe, taffeta, velvet, velveteen—matching shoes and hat in color too—bag also and even gloves. Or gloves can be coppery, beige like the hose.

Then come the formals for evening time. Prepared in every way is the woman whose wardrobe includes two costumes. One will be black—always—with sleeves and jacket presumably. The other will be low-necked, gorgeous of color and glamorous of type—full-skirted and romantic and utterly thrilling. And if she cannot have both—the true sophisticate of ultimate fashion taste will have the slender black as her only choice. Oh—it will have its subtle sparkle and glamor too—only it subscribes to these new rules of what well-dressed women wear when the evening is not strictly formal.

MANY ATTEND MONTHLY COMUS DANCE

An unusually large crowd attended Comus club's formal December dance last night, for which Lee Mann's orchestra played. A Christmas motif was used to decorate the Orange hall, and each member brought an amusing toy for a gift exchange, which took place around the colorfully decorated tree in one corner.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dickey, Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Sherrard and Mr. and Mrs. Don McDonald. Particularly lovely were the formal gowns of the hostesses as they stood in the receiving line to greet the guests, Mrs. Edgar in a vivid tulip-printed black satin, Mrs. Dickey in rich green tulle, Mrs. Sherrard in peach brocade with pale green trim and Mrs. McDonald in flame-red taffeta.

As we approach the Christmas season may we pause and remember the great stories that help to make it memorable. The three greatest are the story of the Christmas, the story of the Christmas carol, of Scrooge and Tiny Tim, and the story jingled into the night before Christmas. From them spring three phrases that our English language would miss; phrases so familiar that we speak them without stopping to remember their beauty and depth of meaning: "Peace on earth, good will to men," "God bless us, every one," and "Merry Christmas to all." Pass on the joy of good books at Christmas time. If you cannot buy a new one, read a child story from an old one, and add the blessing to your own in memory that will stay with him the rest of his life.

Thanks, Libra, for your greetings and for your timely suggestion. We grownups who have read these stories many times can always keep the true spirit of the season in our hearts by unfolding them anew to our little folks.

My Dear Miss Stoddard: This may be too early a comeback, but please ask the dear deluded and misunderstood men to gather 'round and listen for a moment.

Some years ago I heard a lecture by Carl Sandburg which left in my memory a little story that has belonged in this column for a long, long time. It is fitting for the holiday season.

It was a story about old settler days in the prairie country—about a barefooted Arkansas native who leaned against a fence by the roadside, chewing tobacco and watching the settlers pass by. A wagon, loaded with a family and its worldly goods, stopped.

"What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

"What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

"Oh, common trash, mostly. Shiftless, mean, stingy, fighting sort."

"Well, stranger, I reckon that's about the sort of folks you'll find hereabouts," drawled the native. His spout into the dust. The wagon rolled away.

After a while, another wagon drew up, with family and goods atop.

"What sort of folks live round here?" asked the new driver.

"What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the man by the fence.

The new settler laughed; "Oh, pretty decent average folks, mostly. Good neighbors, kind, willing to lend a hand to help. Pleasant folks, easy to get along with."

The native spat into the dust, and drawled, "Well, stranger, I reckon that's about the sort of folks you'll find round here."

What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

What sort of folks lived where you came from, stranger?" asked the settler.

HERMOSA PAST MATRONS HAVE PARTY

Collaborating yesterday afternoon, four hostesses—Mrs. Lois Osterman, Mrs. Jeannette Tarpley and Mrs. Maggie Moore—entertained members of the Hermosa Past Matrons association with a luncheon in the Rossmore cafe.

Guests were seated at a long table decorated with a silver tree decked with blue and silver balls, and blue lights. Tiny transparent silver trees marked each place.

Following the luncheon, the group adjourned to the Masonic temple for their annual Christmas party, with gifts for an exchange heaped under a huge tree. Mrs. Ella Straasberger presided over a business meeting, welcoming the new worthy matron, Mr. Helen Lurker, as an honor guest and presenting her with a beautiful corsage as a gift from the association. Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, junior past matron, was greeted as a new member.

A short musical program followed the business, when Miss Marjorie Vall, guide of the Job's Daughters, sang two selections, accompanied by Anne Ulseth. Mrs. Nona Cloyed led the group in singing Christmas carols, with Mrs. Lillian Jones as accompanist.

Present for the delightful afternoon were the Mesdames Minnie Atkinson, Kate Barker, Hattie Benight, Amber Burke, Frances Brooks, Marie Beisel, Nona Cloyes, Lulu Drake, C. F. Dunphy, Grace Finn, Edith Harvey, Ada Henery, Minnie Holmes, Maude Halladay, Lillian Jones, Vera Jacoby, Molly Kerch, Laura McCormack, Maggie Moore.

The Mesdames Elizabeth Moore, Martha Medlock, Irene Mitchell, Lois Osterman, Dora Pease, Jennie Peek, Mable Rowland, Fannie Reeves, Martha Reinhaus, Cora Rugg, Adelaide Safety, Ella Straasberger, Mae Thomas, Jeannette Tarpley, Jeannette Terwilliger, Martha Whitson, Maude Wimbler, Grace Wilson, Marian Wallace, Maude Watson, Elizabeth Lewis and Helen Lurker.

HARMONY BRIDGE

Harmony Bridge club members will meet as guests of the new officers, Mrs. Leo Cole and Mrs. Irene Cook, for a luncheon in the Masonic Temple at 12:30 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 21. There will be a Christmas party during the afternoon, when 25 cent gifts will be exchanged. Members are reminded to enclose their own names in the packages.

ASKS BIDS ON FAST NEW FIGHTERS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The maritime commission has called for bids for immediate construction of 12 fast single-screw steel cargo vessels for operation in foreign commerce. The commission said this represented the largest individual peace-time order for merchant cargo tonnage ever placed in this country.

Construction of the vessels, the commission said, will initiate an orderly replacement program to rehabilitate this nation's aging merchant fleet. World war origin.

Joseph P. Kennedy, commission chairman, said the World war fleet will be virtually obsolete within five years.

The bids will be received Feb. 1. The new vessels will have a speed of 15½ knots, making them 50 per cent faster than the majority of American merchant vessels of this type now in service.

They will be built to a standard design developed by the commission's technical staff in collaboration with private ship building experts.

The commission said unofficial estimates placed the cost of the 12 vessels between $18,000,000 and $23,000,000.

Prisoner Goes Back to Jail After 10 Years

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—John E. Ohles, 33-year-old painter, has been ordered back to the county road camp from which he escaped 10 years ago.

"My wife came to me 10 years ago while I was on the road camp and told me she and our baby were penniless," Ohles told authorities. "I told her I'd be home the next day and make a living for them."

County authorities said Ohles kept his word, escaped from the camp, and took his wife and child to the northwest. Four more children were born to the couple, but lately, Mrs. Ohles became ill and her husband thought a milder climate would benefit her. He returned to Los Angeles.

Yesterday, when he applied for a license to operate a second hand store, sheriff's officers arrested him.

Gas Sobers Drunks, Claim

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, (American Wire)—A gas that sobers an intoxicated person in a few minutes has been discovered here by Sigurd Lindholm, according to the Royal Automobile club, which will sponsor its trial production. The anti-alcohol gas is related to "laughing gas" and is not injurious to health, Lindholm claims.

through the various departments of that plant. The boys found the mechanical and electrical rooms of special interest, and all enjoyed seeing the huge switchboards and learning how local and long distance calls were completed.

Mr. Frank Harwood, Santa Ana postmaster, was the next host to the group. Those particularly interested in stamp collecting were given a liberal education on the many different denominations of U. S. postage stamps. Another special feature of this particular time was the preparation for the Christmas mail which went into use this week. With such detailed system the students were fully convinced that Uncle Sam was fully prepared to meet any rush or emergency. In the construction of the Federal building are inspection places. The class found this entire building very typical of all federal buildings for safety and efficiency.

Miss Lella Thrasher has scheduled several very interesting and worthwhile speakers for her ninth grade social studies groups, taking up various departments of local government as a special consideration. Mr. Garthe, representative of the local fire department, talked to the class recently on the history and organization of that valuable department to the community.

On Friday Mr. Herman Zabel, fingerprint expert from the Orange County jail is giving a talk to the group on the history of fingerprinting and crime prevention. Several others are expected to continue these talks after vacation.

LIBRARY CHRISTMAS PARTY
Miss Leona Calkins, Lathrop librarian, and her assistant, Mrs. Juvela Lake have made elaborate preparations for the annual children's Christmas party and story hour to be held in the library next Wednesday morning at 10.

LICENSE OF CREAMERY IS REVOKED

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—State Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock yesterday ordered unconditional revocation of the license to do business of the Golden West Creamery company, a large Los Angeles milk distributing concern operated by C. J. Kurtz.

Brock said the concern was the first distributor to feel the full force of the Young milk control law enacted by the 1937 legislature. The order followed repeated warnings of the department, it was said, because Kurtz refused to pay producers in accordance with the price schedules established by the stabilization and marketing plan as ordered for the Los Angeles area.

The director also filed suit in the Los Angeles county superior court to recover penalties aggregating $4000 based on the alleged violations of the law by Kurtz.

FACULTY PARTY
A lovely Christmas dinner and party was enjoyed by members of the faculty last Tuesday evening at Daniger's. Following a luscious turkey dinner with all the other Christmas attractions on the table, the group played bridge and other games. Mrs. Gladys Schulhof entertained the group with some readings. Arrangements for the party were in charge of Mrs. Frances Beeson. Very attractive place cards were made by Miss Mildred Tummond.

Ruth Chatterton Denies Reports Of Betrothal

LONDON, (AP)—Movie Actress Ruth Chatterton, in her London home, expressed bewilderment at a Lisbon report she was there last week en route to marry a Madeira merchant, Carlos Freitas Martins.

She was even more puzzled by a later report that she had reached Funchal and there denied the engagement.

"I have been in London since Nov. 7," she said. "I never have been in Portugal or Madeira in my life. I can only imagine someone was impersonating me. Certainly I am not marrying Martins. In fact I never heard of him before."

BALTIMORE, (AP)—Federal Judge William C. Coleman today ordered owners of the whaling ship Frango to pay the government $3097 the value of 23 tons of oil taken from four whales he said were killed in violation of whaling treaty act.

Judge Coleman first ordered the oil turned over to the government, but customs officials said they had no place to store it.

Lieut. James D. Craik of the coast guard was aboard the ship during her eight-month whaling trip to watch for violations of the act.

One-third of the world's oil supply is found within a radius of 150 miles of Houston, Tex.

Kern Sugar Beet Campaign Told

BAKERSFIELD, (AP)—Now that a sugar beet has been developed which resists the curly top disease, Kern county will resume beet production dropped 20 years ago, M. A. Lindsay, county farm adviser, said here today.

He told 150 interested farmers that more than 1000 acres would be planted to sugar beets in the county next season and that the average yield should be 15 tons or more to the acre, as compared to the 11-ton state average.

RETURNERS FROM HAWAII

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Charles TeWinkle returned this week from a six-weeks' vacation in Honolulu where she visited relatives of several local people.

Every year at this season students and faculty look forward to an invitation to the music and dramatic departments to share in their Christmas program for the entire school. This year, as usual, Miss Cornell has announced that every class will be invited to a specially prepared program to be given Friday. The combined glee clubs under the direction of Miss Edith Cornell and Mr. Daniel Stover will sing several Christmas songs and lead the entire audience in some old favorites; the orchestra will also contribute to the musical part of the program.

A one-act play "The Christmas Ghost," will be given by Ruth Mary Murphy, Mollie Maloney, Barbara Thwaite, Cathryn Stockton, and Nickie Pappas.

The girls in Mrs. Sinke's foods classes are having valuable and interesting practice in learning how to make candies, cakes, and cookies especially appropriate for the Christmas season. They are also learning how to wrap up Christmas foodstuffs to be most attractive for gifts.

Next Saturday evening the Lathrop music department will have a part in the school program to be in the community Christmas broadcast. About 24 glee club members from Lathrop will take part in this civic activity.

FIELD TRIP
Thirty eight interested and alert business training pupils met their teacher, Mrs. Webber, at the Register office one morning last week and were conducted through the entire plant. The linotype machines were of special interest to the boys and all enjoyed seeing how the papers were put through the final process ready for distribution.

The next place of interest was the First National bank where Mr. Vossman conducted the entire group through the numerous departments where there was much activity in the usual day's work. The "31 garbage cans" proved a fascinating curiosity where each day's sweepings and debris are kept in case of call for any lost articles. The day's findings are put into the garbage can corresponding to that day of the month, and after an entire month all the cans are emptied. By this method many small articles are found and safely returned to the owners. The checking machines and the process of making out statements were especially interesting to the young business pupils.

The telephone office was the next stop, and a very different and entertaining trip was made through the various departments of that plant. The boys found the mechanical and electrical rooms of special interest, and all enjoyed seeing the huge switchboards and learning how local and long distance calls were completed.

Mr. Frank Harwood, Santa Ana postmaster, was the next host to the group. Those particularly interested in stamp collecting were given a liberal education on the many different denominations of U. S. postage stamps. Another special feature of this particular time was the preparation for the Christmas mail which went into use this week. With such detailed system the students were fully convinced that Uncle Sam was fully prepared to meet any rush or emergency. In the construction of the Federal building are inspection places. The class found this entire building very typical of all federal buildings for safety and efficiency.

On Friday Mr. Herman Zabel, fingerprint expert from the Orange County jail is giving a talk to the group on the history of fingerprinting and crime prevention. Several others are expected to continue these talks after vacation.

EMPLOYMENT BETTER IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Employment conditions were better in California in November than they were a year ago, despite a decline from October.

The cold figures turned out by the state division of labor statistics were considerably less frigid than had been expected in some quarters. E. L. Nolan, state labor commissioner, reported today to Governor Merriam that employment was 1.9 per cent higher than a year ago, average weekly earnings of employees up 3.8 per cent and the aggregate payroll of 1746 manufacturing firms was 5.8 per cent higher.

The 1746 factories had 173,350 workers on the rolls, compared with 170,147 in November, 1936. They paid these workers $4,916,733 a week, an average of $28.36 per employee, which compared with $27.32 a year ago.

Church Group Has Christmas Party

COSTA MESA. — The annual Christmas party of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society was held Tuesday in the chapel of Community church with Mrs. Bechtold presiding. Mrs. Donald Gibson led in the devotion, the stewardship ritual being in charge of Mrs. W. A. Compton.

Following the business session, the Rev. Wilfred Rowntree, retired minister of Costa Mesa, talked on conditions in Palestine during the time he was occupied there in missionary work, 35 years ago. Readings were given by Mrs. Elmer Clark, Mrs. Compton, Mrs. E. A. Randall and Mrs. Bechtold. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Fred Long, Orange avenue.

Present were Mesdames Fred Long, J. L. Dean, Angelina Allen, Elmer Clark, E. A. Randall, Vernon Coyner, Clara Rollins, Ida Clark, H. B. McMurtry, D. E. Hatch, Donald Gibson, Ruth Meiser, W. A. Compton, Agnes Rustad, J. M. Gallagher, Louise Bechtold and the Rev. Mr. Rowntree.

Wallie Without Rank As Peerage 'Highbrows' Her

LONDON. (AP) — Burke's Peerage announced today that the college of arms has refused to record any precedence for the Duchess of Windsor. The effect of the decision was to leave the duchess officially without any ranking among British nobility.

The college, ancient and absolute arbiter of titles in England, issued letters of patent giving precedence to the Duke of Windsor as the third royal duke of the realm after his brothers, the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent. But the duchess was ignored.

Authorities on heraldry said it would be necessary for King George to make a decision on the status of the former British monarch's wife just as he created his brother "his royal highness" after the abdication.

Ordinarily a wife assumes the rank of her husband, but the college of arms ignored precedent in the case of Wallis Warfield.

The college "on advice of the king" will not have to make a ruling on Wallis' precedence until she comes to England to take her place in a procession at a royal funeral, coronation, state banquet, wedding, christening or opening of parliament.

The controversy over the duchess' rank brought the matter to the attention of the college, founded in 1484, which then declined to give her any place in England's roll of peers and peeresses.

ROMANCE AND COMEDY CLOSE

"Live, Love and Learn," one of the smartest comedies of the year, will show for the last time tonight at the West Coast theater with Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell co-starring.

In "Live, Love and Learn" Montgomery is seen as a penniless Greenwich Village painter who marries Miss Russell, member of New York's wealthiest social set. Rosalind prefers love in a garret to wealth and society.

Robert Benchley, famous humorist, has a leading role in the hilarious romantic comedy. Helen Vinson has the role of the "other woman."

Second feature on the closing bill is "Partners in Crime," in which two favorite veteran comedians join forces with three younger players in dealing out laughs and thrills. The film tells the story of two pals who get mixed up in a crooked city election. The cast includes the two comedians, Lynne Overman and Roscoe Karns.

Tomorrow the West Coast will show "First Lady," with Kay Francis, Preston Foster and Anita Louise, and "Love on Toast," with Stella Adler and John Payne.

Flint Talks At Laguna Forum

LAGUNA BEACH. — Calvin C. Flint, Forum leader, as speaker at the regular meeting in the grammar school auditorium yesterday gave as his final lecture, "The World Muddled On."

Dean Flint discussed with the audience different countries, including Yugoslavia, France, Russia, Poland and the United States. Speaking of the United States, he stated what France says the New Deal is an attempt to preserve capitalism by reforming it against its will and said that there is "muddling" in the United States and in almost every country in the world today.

About 150 people attended the lecture and at the conclusion, various members gave their opinions on the topic discussed.

The Open Forum will resume a series of lectures in the spring when Everett Dean Martin will address the audience. Martin has been identified with Cooper Union where for 30 years he had the distinction of being the first to head adult education.

Desert air is freer from micro-organisms than that of moist regions.

THRILLS IN STATE SHOW

Packed with thrills, feverish in pace, highlighted by running gun-fights, wild horse stampedes and illicit attempts at wholesale herd-stealing, "Hit the Saddle," latest in the series of Republic's "Three Mesquiteers" films, which opens today at the State theater and will be shown Saturday, is a thrilling Western feature.

As usual in this series, Bob Livingston plays handsome Stony Brooke. Ray "Crash" Corrigan is the stalwart Tucson Smith and Max Terhune again figures as Lullaby Joslin, an easy riding cowboy. This time, the boys ride herd on a bunch of illicit wild horse thieves and exterminate them after several breath-taking battles.

"Who's Who," an uproariously funny comedy; "Morning-Noon-Night Club," a short and another chapter of "Secret Agent" complete the unusual bill at the State theater Friday and Saturday.

Mesa Art Group Meeting Slated

LEAVE FOR TEXAS

COSTA MESA. — Mrs. Mary Simon, mother of Mrs. J. C. Gallon, and Mrs. Gallon's brother and sister, left recently for their home in Amarillo, Texas, after having spent six weeks in Southern California. Miss Simon had resided in Costa Mesa for the past year.

WELFARE TOPIC FOR AUXILIARY

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Many types of welfare activities were reported at the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, held recently in the Legion hut.

Scrapbooks are being made for the children's tubercular ward of Orange county hospital; bed jackets and lap robes for veterans at Sawtelle and special visits are being paid the old people's ward at the county hospital. Considerable work also is being done in the tuberculosis seal campaign and a shower of gifts being prepared for the adopted boy at the Junior Republic home in China.

During the month of November, $38.14 was expended in child welfare work; $4.50 in cooperative sales and $28 for community service.

A Christmas party for the junior auxiliary and Sons of the Legion is to be held in the Legion hut, Dec. 21, at 2 p. m. it was decided.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, 21st district education chairman, and Mrs. Lucien Proud, president of the La Habra unit.

Following the business meeting, the balance of the evening was spent playing "Whoopie." Mrs. Edith Downing winning the grand prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nella Norton, door by the hostess, Mrs. Georgetown Gordon.

85 AT LAGUNA SCOUT DINNER

LAGUNA BEACH. — An Elk dinner was given by the Flaming Arrow patrol, troop 15, in the Boy Scout hut Tuesday evening.

The Scouts were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dolan, Mrs. Roy Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Fry and Mrs. Hoffman.

Eighty-five people attended the dinner which started with blowing of mess call by Dick Darling. Duane Kipp acted as toastmaster. Four tenderfoot scouts were introduced into the Scout organization. A court of honor was held which consisted of Earle Hatheway, chairman, Roy Baker and Lawrence Barrell and Mr. Braman presented Ray Dolan, who won a badge for cooking and carpentry and Billy Teeter, who won a badge for cooking and bird study. Billy Teeter also won a first class merit badge.

Second-class badges were awarded to Arnold Bear, Ed Fry and Dick Darling.

LEGION MEETS AT CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE. — San Clemente Post No. 331, American Legion, entertained members of the county council and their wives Friday evening. The affair was given in the Casino and was attended by more than 200 persons.

Vice Commander Nicodemus presented the local post with its charter. Guests were welcomed to the city by Mayor Dan Mulholland and short talks were made by Commander William L. Stute, Major J. W. Wolridge and others.

L. Miles, Mrs. DeWitt and Mrs. M. M. Carpenter.

Mesa Lions Hear Address

COSTA MESA. — Dr. L. E. Warren of China spoke before the Lions club Tuesday, his subject being "Think and Let Think." During the talk, Dr. Warren deplored the fact that such a small percentage of Americans really were capable of thinking and too often allowed their decisions to be formulated according to the newspapers they read and the beliefs of their friends.

A special committee to be headed by Judge D. J. Dodge was appointed by President Crawley to work on community betterment or any improvement program which was chosen by the committee. Others named to the group were William Adams, Newport Beach postmaster; Robert Boyd, Newport Harbor Legion commander; Joseph C. Payne, Costa Mesa realtor, and Lew Wallace, Newport.

New American Citizens Feted at Mesa Program

COSTA MESA.—Sixty members and guests of the adult citizenship class met Wednesday evening at a banquet given in honor of seven of their members who that same day had secured their final citizenship papers.

Honored were Mari Teresa Fleishower, Marie Hanson, Robert M. Cooper, Mary Ellen Jones, Louise Sperdiani, William V. Jones and Sydney Blackboard.

The speaker was Bishop P. Wise Clarkson, world traveler and lecturer of Laguna Beach and an alumnus of the class, which has been in constant operation under the same instructor, Mrs. Minnie V. Reid, for the past 11 years.

In praise of the friendship, fellowship and love of American ideals which Mrs. Reid has instilled in her teaching, Bishop Clarkson said, "This class has become an institution—something I don't know the like of anywhere else in the United States." During his address, which dealt with "Human Achievement in the United States," he told of the marvelous advancement of industry in the past 150 years, especially citing lumbering, shipping, mining and agriculture.

A welcome to American citizenship was given the new citizens by Judge D. J. Dodge, president of the Newport Harbor High school board. Each responded with a brief account of why they had decided to become naturalized.

Other members of the class, not yet graduated, told briefly of their home country and what had been their reasons for coming to America.

PLAN CANTATA IN ORANGE

ORANGE.—The Christmas story and its relation to modern life will be the theme of a cantata-pageant to be presented Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Christian church here. "Come Ye to Bethlehem," will be directed by Mrs. Joan Allan Des Larzes and Mrs. Thelma Dugan Burns.

Supporting the regular choir will be the youth choir and a newly formed male quartet made up of Sheldon Swenson, Charles Morgan, John Rossier and M. C. Cole. Harold Larson will be at the organ, and Mrs. Alice Des Larzes Dunlap at the piano. Songs will be sung by Mrs. Ben Hager and John Rossier.

In the cast are Cullen Gray, Clair Hahn, Fred Shaw, Jr., Myron C. Cole as Mary, and the tiny Cole baby, the Manger Babe.

Mesa Corps Has Annual Party

COSTA MESA.—The annual Christmas party of the Woman's Relief Corps was held Wednesday afternoon in the social hall, where a decorated Christmas tree was the center of attraction.

Mrs. Rutler, civil war widow, was presented with a gift and a basket of Christmas goods was sent to John Manning, 93-year-old civil war veteran and Costa Mesa's only G. A. R. member.

Mrs. Blanche Kiyawa was initiated as a new member. Also present were Mesdames Ica Ica, Margaret Long, Alvina Ober, Alice King, Phoebe Mortimer, Daisy Radabaugh, Ivy Coe, Pearl Brown, Clara McMurray, Clara Rollins, Gertrude Collins and Margaret Dean.

Teachers at Oceanview Feted

OCEANVIEW.—A waffle supper, Christmas tree and exchange of gifts were enjoyed by the teaching staff of the local school Tuesday evening at the home of Helen Schoenberg on Huntington Beach boulevard.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Peterson, Roscoe Leadbury, Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Payne, Patricia Caldwell, Jane Crawford, Lucille Hopper, and Beatrice Brockman.

Bridgette Club Members Meet

CYPRESS.—Mrs. La Rue White was hostess to members of the Bridgette club, the group including Mrs. Harold Boos, Mrs. R. C. Cawthon, Mrs. Mary Stremple, Mrs. Dan Mackay, Mrs. Fred Mackay, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Mrs. William Fraser, Mrs. George Luff, Mrs. James Dale of Huntington Beach and two special guests, Mrs. J. A. Houlihan and Mrs. Anne Van Steenberg. A gift exchange featured the after-luncheon hour.

Five clarinets used in ancient Greece are preserved in the British museum.

Additional County News On Page 20

WEATHER IS TOPIC FOR ROTARIANS

ORANGE.—Farm Center representatives were guests of the Orange Rotary club Thursday noon as they assembled to hear Dr. Irving Krick, meteorologist of Cal Tech. Dr. Krick described weather forecasting and told how predictions can be made for as much as five days ahead by plotting the movements of air masses.

He explained the cause of rain by saying that when a polar air mass moves southward and meets a mass of warm air the lighter air rises to pass over the cold air, and by so doing loses its water vapor in the form of rain. By knowing the shape of air masses it is possible to tell what areas will receive rain, he added.

Information is obtained from the upper strata of the atmosphere by the use of a small device that catches balloons with instruments attached, the speaker said, and if immediate reports are wanted a tiny radio is sent aloft and as the observations are made they are recorded mechanically and instantly transmitted to the weather men below.

Harold Wahlberg, county farm advisor was program chairman, and President Tom Douglas presided.

MINSTREL SHOW DRAWS CROWD

WESTMINSTER.—The minstrel show staged by former members of the community chorus as a benefit for the P. T. A., and the opening concert of the recently organized orchestra drew a capacity audience to the school auditorium Tuesday evening.

Ed Bebevery supervised the black faced funsters and Paul Beatty, orchestra leader, was musical director. Jack Houlihan acted as interactor introducing several acts including a solo by Margaret Prindle, duet by Barbara and Elsie Mae Bebevery, Kay Jones in recitations and the black face quartet, composed of Bill Rose, Bill Vail, Clifford Crane and Marvin Penhall. Sam Micelli, Everette Hyllton and Clayton Van Steenberg were the end men.

Others taking part were John Day, Fred Coe, Eldred Schult, M. S. Harder, Marvin Harder, E. L. Hensley, Iola Vail, Virginia Goble, Kay Sheldon, Joie Smith, Merle Rhea, Fay Houlihan, Bella Fay Schult, Mae Finley, Gladys Heath, Elsie Black and Mrs. Hensley.

RECITAL SET AT HUNTINGTON

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mrs. George Chalmers, music teacher, will present her younger pupils in an original musical play, "A Visit From Santa Claus," Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Methodist church.

Song, piano and accordion numbers will be included in the play. The cast consists of Bob Hughes, Loren Mitchell, Norman Worthy, Dorothy Whitte, Billy Bray, Bob Smith, Richard Wilson, Jean Day, Arthur Mary Lambert, Marilyn Benningsdorf, Eddie Dowty, Irene Smith, Betty Giesler, Rebecca Grand, Virginia Ebert, George Noah, Dick Wilson, Dolly Lorenzo, Dorothy Whitte, Fred Kirkpatrick, Dorothy Hawes, Marguerite Hawes, Mildred Hawes, Albert, Arthur, Mary Lambert, Laura Belle Parr, Shirley Mitchell and Bob Smith.

The students are all members of the Music Lovers' club.

Cut, Shoot, Texas, No Two-Gun Town

CUT AND SHOOT, Tex. (AP)—Cut and Shoot is a peaceful village despite its name.

It is a crossroad community that got its blood and thunder name at the time it got its little white church.

About the turn of the century—nobody remembers the exact date—the church, each resident being required to do part of the work. Everything moved smoothly until they got to the steeple.

One faction wanted to put the steeple at one end of the church and the other faction wanted to put it at the other end.

Fists flew and noses trickled blood. Officers from Conroe, nine miles away, dashed over in buckboards and on horseback. Things were quiet when they got there.

A wag christened the community Cut and Shoot. The name has stuck while the village has slept through four decades, still just a little white church, a few houses and a crossroads store.

Papa Gorilla Real Family Man

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Male gorillas faithfully protect their families and are always solicitous for the welfare of dependents, according to observations made in East Africa by Capt. C. R. S. Pitman, revealed in the latest report of the Smithsonian Institution.

The head of the family will send the females and the young away to safety and remain to see what is happening, if danger threatens, Pitman writes.

News About El Toro Folks

The children are expecting to greet dear old Santa in the El Toro hall tonight, Friday, Dec. 17, where they will also entertain their parents and friends by plays and song.

Everybody is smiling around here since that lovely rain, and can we blame them?

It seems our railroad agents are making another change. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are leaving again.

We are very happy to hear that Mrs. D. E. Whisler is greatly improved.

Clem Fox has come to make his home with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Fox.

Leroy Evans of Santa Ana visited with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Waterman, last Wednesday.

Miss Louise Moulton is returning home from college for a month's vacation.

Ed Cox of Irvine has spent many evenings of late with Bill Drews, both working on their ships which they expect to enter in the gas model airplane contest, Dec. 19, out at Rosecrans and Western avenue in Los Angeles. Both have had some bad "crack ups" while testing their ships, but are again all set and ready to go.

This contest is sponsored by the Gas Model Airplane association of Southern California, Incorporated. Prizes will be given.

Elmer Mason, who has been passing the time in a San Diego trailer camp for some weeks, is returning to spend the holidays with his very good friends, the Foxs.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Prothro and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett had a very enjoyable Monday evening with their card club, entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas of Tustin.

They were served with a good old-fashioned southern baked ham dinner. And the topic of the evening was the horse Mrs. Deardorff has just bought to replace the one she recently lost. And which Mr. Gene Thomas, her brother, expects to ride in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses New Year's day.

ENTERTAINS GUESTS

SAN CLEMENTE.—Mrs. C. C. Sinnott entertained a number of her Los Angeles friends Tuesday at her home on Calle de los Alamos. Present were Mesdames Fred Paulsen, Paul Paulsen, Vandy McNeins, Fred Paulsen, G. Stratford and H. Bibb of Los Angeles and Mrs. Vera Baxter of Vista.

DECORATIONS ARRANGED AT CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE.—The city's entry in the Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Orange County Coast association is a shrine representing the City of Bethlehem with the star overhead. San Clemente has captured first prize in the shrine class on several occasions and it is believed that this year's design is more beautiful than any used heretofore. It will be lighted Saturday evening for the first time.

Mayor Dan Mulherron announced at the city council meeting Wednesday evening that local judging committees would pass on several entries in the city on the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 22nd. The two best in each class will be picked and referred to the Coast association committee Thursday evening which will make the final decision.

The local committee is composed of David I. Stoddard, business places; Wendell Lovell, inside decorations; Dan Mulherron and Miss Lillian V. Coe, shrine and street lighting; outside trees, Henry Fate.

FRIGHTENED CONGRESS . . .
On June 21, 1783, the United States Congress, assembled in a Philadelphia hall, was brought face to face with a most difficult situation. A band of 80 recruits from Lancaster, Pa., mutinied when they learned the Continental Army had been dismissed on June 2 and sent home minus their pay checks. They marched on Philadelphia, where they were joined by a number of war veterans, and surrounded the meeting hall of congress, determined to settle the score by forcing congress to action or flight. The militiamen sneaked up to the windows, thrust in their muskets and shouted. Congressional dignity was lost amid a hasty adjournment. An appeal to call out the state militia was denied for fear they too would join the mutineers. Members of congress finally made their escape from the building and fled to Princeton. Philadelphia declared the flight unnecessary, claiming it was staged by delegates who sought to deprive the city of the honor of being the Capitol of the United States.

YOU CAN AFFORD THIS FIVE-ROOM HOME Located on a lot 60x135, in a community of 24 homes, it has everything to make a house beautiful. Living room has fireplace, is 18x21 in size, with two doors opening into what can be an elegant parlor. The hallway contains two very large linen closets, with an extra amount of storage space in each. The two bedrooms are 12x14 and contain very large closets with windows and lights in each. There are three windows looking out to each of these rooms, affording perfect ventilation. The dinette connects to the living room by French doors and opens to one of the most convenient kitchens imaginable. This sink, ventilated stove space, recessed and vented ice box space, and cupboard space for a much larger house than this. The service porch is 8x10, with laundry tub built in, connections for washer and ironer, and a large broom closet. Double garage and cement driveway complete the buildings. Water is only $1.50 per month with no meter. Entire place already financed under the strictest of FHA terms. The easy way you can buy it will surprise you, and the saving in your rent alone will make it more than worth while to see it. Ed L. Hensley, Realtor, Midway City, or phone Westminster 8361.

In South Sea Islands, Too!

Modern life, with its faster tempo and its many changes in all lines, to some extent is affecting the whole world. We are prone to fancy that, because of the communication marvels which we enjoy, (or, in some cases, don't enjoy) we Americans and the other "civilized" peoples have pretty much a monopoly on innovations. But, it seems, the far-away and often forgotten minor tribes also feel the pressure of continued change. This probably goes for the remotest Eskimau family up under the Arctic circle.

Certainly it goes for the natives in the tropic isles of the sea. Capt. MacGillivray Milne, governor of American Samoa, in his annual report to Washington, says that "restlessness" has invaded his domain, that "the slow but steady encroachment of outside influences is having a bad effect on native morals."

There are many manifestations. The men are demanding bright colored shirts, the women silk and rayon dresses. Bicycles are being ridden. American mail order catalogues are universally popular. Grumbling is heard among the young men against the power of the chieftains. Stronger beer is an object of agitation. The bucks of the tribes seek "to imitate the 'big shots' of the films." And so it goes.

It will all lead, believes Capt. Milne, to demands for changes in the governmental set-up, which has been in effect since 1900. So, don't fancy that America is the only land where the status quo is slipping.

Landon says the New Deal has made everybody dizzy. Gee! Hasn't Alf got over the right hook to the jaw he got last November?

Diplomacy's Loss

The resignation of William E. Dodd as ambassador to Germany must be counted a heavy loss to the government.

There have been reasonable doubts of late as to the degree of Mr. Dodd's being persona grata to the Nazi party. But there can be no doubt whatever as to his being a man of whom his country can be proud, a rugged American and friend of Americans abroad, a ripe scholar whose head never was turned by titles and position.

During the last four years in Germany at least one voice of democracy remained unsuppressed, and that was Ambassador Dodd's. He was a Jeffersonian Democrat. He never gave polite lip-service to fascism or kept silent when his opinion was called for. Many Americans, and particularly those traveling abroad, have felt a special glow at his courage, and the presence of such a representative in Berlin was a distinct point of prestige.

Mr. Dodd should be assured that his term at the Berlin embassy will be appreciated and treasured in the memories of his countrymen.

An expert on women's styles says hats are going to be crazier. Let's sue for an armistice, men, and see if we can reason with them.

Gangsters' Decline

Now Hollywood has turned out a movie it calls "The Last Gangster." Let's give a couple of good strong hopes that the title has some real significance.

In recent years the gangster has been glorified one way and another far out of proportion to his real importance. A certain glamor has been given him that has added heavily to the numbers of youngsters lost to the world through crime. Any juvenile court judge or probation officer will verify that declaration.

Anything we may do to deflate the gangster and put him in his proper place with relation to 130,000,000 normal and more or less co-operative citizens will be a net gain in the reduction of juvenile—which means later adult—crime.

In this connection, the wave of toy machine guns and automatic pistols which swept the nation for several Christmases is subsiding. It would not harm the situation to let these go down into oblivion with the last gangster.

Never having studied Latin, those Ethiopians simply can't get Il Duce's paz romana idea through their heads.

Hit-Me-If-You-Dare

Safety drives throughout the nation—usually conducted in the last few weeks of a year to hold the fatality figure down to last year's—should take into account one more factor that is frequently overlooked: The Hit-Me-If-You-Dare pedestrian.

Everyone who drives an automobile has had narrow escapes with pedestrians from whom he has expected a prudent and sensible cooperation, and has received quite the opposite.

Granted that the far greater part of the blame for pedestrian accidents lies with the drivers, there is still plenty of room in the total score of tragedies for a more safe and sane attitude on the part of a great many pedestrians.

If called upon right now to name the next G. O. P. top hand I'd have to say Fiorello LaVandenberg.

A Digression?

"This slowdown isn't a setback," said Henry Ford. Some folks call it a recession, others a regression. It might be a retrogression or one or two other kinds of "essions." The fact that we don't know what to call it and that we have any spirit for debating the question is a good omen in itself.

Possibly by the time we get the issue settled all the big wheels will be humming again. Then we could refer to the present unpleasant experience as a digression.

Reaction to Bombing Is Good Sign

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON.—The most remarkable and encouraging circumstance surrounding the Japanese sinking of the American gunboat Panay is to be found in the popular reaction among the peoples of the two countries. Throughout history such outrages as this time and again have precipitated wars. The offending nation would become sullen and defiant and the aggrieved nation would flame with indignant determination to wreak vengeance, each country prodding its government and in turn being further incited by its government until the lid blew off. Remember the Maine as an instance not parallel, but still one in which McKinley was driven to war by inflamed popular opinion.

How different the reaction in this instance. An Associated Press dispatch from Tokyo reports that street where Japanese citizens stopped Americans, removed their hats and gravely expressed their sorrow. Japanese citizens visiting American places of business to extend regrets. Taxi drivers and waitresses voicing regrets to Americans.

SPONTANEITY OF REGRET

No doubt the prompt action of the government in making the most elaborate apologies encouraged private Japanese citizens in their humble gestures toward Americans, yet if the news dispatches are correct, they suggest a spontaneity of regret among the Japanese people which is the healthiest sign that has come out of Japan for some time. The street scenes would indicate that the Japanese people are now aware that their military people have committed an outrage for which the people feel humiliated and ashamed.

Perhaps, through this incident, the Japanese people are beginning to realize for the first time that they and their emperor are being betrayed by the gangster clique which holds control. In any event it would seem that this militaryist clique, which is responsible for the outrageous policy of Japan in recent years, cannot but have its prestige undermined from this caught in such a public embarrassment before its own people.

On the American side there has been an equally healthy display of restraint and good judgment. Not only in congress, where most members have for the moment at least refrained from trying to make cheap capital out of swash-buckling speeches, but also among the newspapers, which are always being charged with warmongering by people who don't know much about how newspapers are edited.

LET'S KEEP OUR SHIRTS ON

Here is the New York Daily News, which for years has run a big-navy editorial every Monday morning the caption "Two Ships for One," and which is popularly supposed to exhibit an anti-Japanese complex, leading off on the Panay affair with no warmongering in that.

And on the Pacific coast, where anti-Japanese feeling is supposed to be strongest, you have even the Los Angeles Times, which always has been imperialistic, giving this advice in its editorial: "The general public will do well not to rock the boat, and to let the American state department, which is in capable hands, handle the matter."

Also the San Francisco Chronicle: "The immediate incident is particularly intolerable to us because its victims are Americans. It is not worth going to war for, but it is worth becoming very stern about."

Now that the Washington Times, owned and lately published by Hearst but now operated under lease by Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, says: "Let's keep cool. The most important immediate point in the case is to keep cool and examine the facts."

These quotations are representative of practically all editorial comment in the country. You cannot say that a free press which takes such a position is irresponsible or is indulging in warmongering.

This is only a hunch, but do you suppose that people the world over have had a bellful of war and would welcome governments which are competent enough to deal with their difficulties in some more intelligent way?

Remarkable Remarks

Tentative identification of the outlaw who yesterday killed Deputy Sheriff Robert Squires and wounded three other men in a fight in the foothills southeast of here as Ira Jones of Clatskanie, Ore., was the only new development today in a crime that had startled the entire county.

A dispatch from the postmaster at Clatskanie told officers here that Jones had left for Southern California six weeks ago. The description fit that of the man who was riddled with bullets after brutally killing the deputy in a spectacular gun duel early yesterday.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Japan truly regrets Panay sinking; seeks U. S. favor, fears our navy; report on jobs brings bad news; fastest drop in November since 1929; shaking 500 hands a day fires first lady at first; no ask later on; Mrs. Davies didn't like Moscow, no Joe Davies seeks another embassy.

WASHINGTON.—Official reports from American observers in the Far East credit the Japanese with telling the truth when they say they were "terribly" sorry over the sinking of the U. S. gunboat Panay and the Standard Oil tankers.

In fact, the Japanese probably were even sorer than they admitted. For their tactics during the entire war have been to curry favor with the United States while thumbing their noses at the British.

During the Manchurian crisis in 1932 it was the reverse. American rights and citizens were trampled upon while the British were treated with respect and courtesy. Reason: In 1932, the American navy still was suffering from the effects of Hoover economy; the British wasn't. Today, the American navy is in excellent shape; while the British fleet has been tied up in the Mediterranean.

Tomorrow, of course, the shoe may be on the other foot, and the situation reversed again. That is one reason Mr. Hull has been hammering home to the British the idea of closer cooperation in the Orient.

PLENTY SOUR
The forthcoming monthly employment report of the bureau of labor statistics is going to be plenty sour.

Covering the period Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, the figures will show a drop in employment of nearly three times the 1.7 per cent fall recorded in the previous month. This is the heaviest decrease for any November since 1929.

The real significance of these figures is contained in the fact that normally employment is on the upgrade during this season. In other words, instead of jobs holding their level or increasing, they have been wiped out in large numbers. The picture, however, is not all gloomy. There are some cheery spots.

Since Nov. 15, while the trend of employment has continued downward, the rate of decrease has diminished appreciably. In the last 10 days, furthermore, it has practically leveled off as a result of a slight pick-up in textiles and a big jump in wholesale and retail employment to handle the Christmas buying.

This last factor is temporary, of course, but it brightens the general situation at least for the present.

FIRST LADY SHAKES HANDS
When the Washington social season starts abruptly, as it has this month, it takes Mrs. Roosevelt a little while to harden the muscles of her back and shoulders to the ordeal of handshaking. Shaking hands with 300 to 5500 people a day is a hard job physically, and according to Malvina Schneider, her secretary, so is pouring tea.

It gets you in the arms when you haven't been doing it all summer," she said the other day after pouring for three teas in the same afternoon.
"Mrs. Roosevelt says the same thing about shaking hands. She feels it most at the beginning of the season; after that, she hits her stride and can take them by the thousands.

"Only it's not in the arm she feels it most, or in her hand. She gets tired in the back of her neck, between the shoulders.

"After she gets broken in for the season, she has as good a time as anybody. She likes to have a lot of people come to the White House. She knows they don't come just to see her—Eleanor Roosevelt—but to see the First Lady and the White House."

AMBASSADOR DAVIES
Chief factor behind Joe Davies not returning to his post as ambassador to Russia is the elegant shadow of his wife, the former Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton.

Their marriage, the state department hears, did not thrive in Moscow.

Naturally, this put Joe on the spot, because of the furore over his marriage in the first place. A Wisconsin boy who came to the capital and made good, Joe had married Emlen Knight of Ashland, Wis., in his youth. They had been happy, had several children, and to divorce her after 25 years of wedlock caused a definite rift in the family.

Mrs. Davies, a very captivating, if somewhat dominating woman, inherited the Post millions, is the aunt of Barbara Hutton, owns the famous yacht Hussar, and one of her companies, General Foods, earned $14,240,957 last year.

Mrs. Hutton had been married twice before, but Joe seemed optimistic about the third and stepped off. Not all of his children attended his wedding.

FROZEN CREAM
It was just a year ago this month that they arrived in Moscow, bringing enough frozen cream to feed the embassy for a year. And shortly after their arrival they found they wouldn't need the cream at all.

So the Davies spent most of their time cruising around Europe and the United States, so much time in fact that the state department eventually intimated that though his salary of $17,500 did seem like pin money compared with his other income, Joe would have to stay in Moscow and earn it.

So last summer he stayed. But Mrs. Davies was often squired about Moscow by a handsome Swedish manager of a shipping line.

Later she came back to the United States—without Joe. And just recently he has followed her. Since Mrs. Davies will not go back to Moscow, and since the state department insists that he work at his job, Joe has asked for a transfer to another post—which, he hopes, will please the lady.

Note—Davies made a part of his own fortune by charging President Trujillo a commission of $480,000 for suspending amortization payments on the Dominican debt. Trujillo is the gentleman who recently caused nearly 8000 Haitians to be massacred and now refuses Roosevelt's invitation to arbitrate.

THREE'S A CROWD
"June has Rabelais and Boccaccio and Lady Chatterly's Lover in her library."
"My! A girl like that is liable to get her shelf talked about!"

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

UNIONIZE THEM

To the Editor: A suggestion I recently read for the creation of an "Over Forty Association" is not impossible to put into effect. Experience alone develops skill in every field. Experience then in aggregate form would be represented by the men and women over 40, under a unionization schedule.

The effectiveness of such a plan, in industry and agriculture, would not only serve as a medium to compel respect and consideration for elderly people, but, in competitiveness, would act as a speed regulator. Speed is the sole underlying cause of most of our nation's ills and the slowest of the wall for the ultimate destruction of the American system. Less hours, less wages, lower cost of living, natural joyful toil, these are the need of the hour and such a plan could bring them about.

ALBERT V. HORNER.

What Other Editors Say

THE TRUTH IN NEWS

As a result of 24 years in the newspaper business, Webb Miller, the great United Press correspondent, says he has learned that the majority of reporters and newspapers want to print the whole truth if they can get it. He says they are mortified and humiliated when they fail or are led into error. The newspaper standard of accuracy is really astonishingly high when dealing with concrete facts. The main trouble reporters have is to get the facts.

Mr. Miller says the more he studies the various aspects of any particular subject, the more qualified, the less definite and clear-cut his opinion becomes. Even when he questioned eye-witnesses a somewhat different story.

As a reporter he didn't tell the truth; he had to strike an average of stories and temper this with his own judgment of the circumstances and interests involved. "I found that," that even when people with the best will in the world tried to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, they could not do it. Each one saw something different. Every man's imagination unwittingly distorted what he saw.

Try this test on several members of your family. Have them tell you about some happening and you will have as many different stories as there are tellers. In view of these facts it is not astonishing that the newspapers do as good a job as they do, when it comes to telling the truth about things.—Ontario Report.

DUPONT'S RECOVERY PLAN

As a speaker at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, Lamont du Pont said one thing, at least, which he probably could not have thought of 10 years ago. It was this: "The bulk of responsibility for future social betterment should be placed on industry's shoulders."

These words from a member of the du Pont family in December, 1927, would have created a sensation. Today, they seem rather commonplace. The concept they express is almost universally accepted. For many years the industry's sole concern was its own particular prosperity. The profit motive ruled over all. That time has gone.

The New Deal may be denounced or glorified in extravagant terms, but it is undeniably and with friendly fear, but a new order is here, and we have all got to live under it, economic royalist and economic commoner alike.

Lamont du Pont apparently realizes that truth. He cuts a far better figure in the role of the man who did what he and his brothers, Pierre and Irene, were appearing at regular intervals in the news as "angels" of the Liberty league—peace to its unwittingly funny ashes.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I read the other day where someone was trying to pass a law in New York City to do away with all house dogs, and if the law goes through, by 1940 there won't be a dog in New York City.

I don't see how people who have once owned a dog can ever get along without one, because after you get to understand him, he's the most valuable possession you can have. One time I laughed at an old lop-eared mongrel dog that Uncle Squincey had. Uncle Squincey said "Don't laugh at that dog; he's the best watch dog I ever had."

He said "I can jest watch that dog's actions and tell the minute a bum or somebody that don't belong here, comes on the place" and I says "Well, what does he do—bark?" and Uncle Squincey says "No, he hides under the sofa!"

There are reputedly 19 de luxe apartments in New York—one was formerly occupied by Arthur Brisbane—with private elevators. The most extravagant is for an oil magnate and his family on East End avenue. It is mirror and chromium and the operators wear knee breeches and white perukes. At the time of their installation the elevators at the Ritz Carlton were considered the what-ho-est in town. Each has an electric clock and is automatically sprayed with perfume every three hours. The operators' costumes change to formal dress at sundown.

The most impressive gesture to me in the Ritz's hoity-toity was the free valet service. Each floor had an imported valet who, without summons, went through one's wardrobe and kept clothes in perfect press and shoes in effulgent shine and upon call studded the evening shirts and gave the necker dark box ties that certain je ne sais quoi. One on a floor where I resided was named Napier, so British he frequently used the word "whilst."

Then there were the English made-up "always bettin' a 'alf bob or so on the horses—work and their 5 o'clock tea in their alcove. My dog Junior knew the time, and, being a democratic fellow, scratched at the door to join them. There was a chair for him and he waited for his piece of cake and saucer of tea. I thought, rather unusual, but then I realized that many English dogs participate in the tea hour.

A favorite city editor, Robert MacAlarney, has become an interesting commentator on the radio. MacAlarney city edited on the old Evening Mail, Evening Post and Tribune and was responsible for a mellow method in handling reporters. His voice was without customary bark and he never delivered a call-down in front of the staff. When some erring member went on the loose he saw to it that he was corralled and taken home. It was during the blusterous reign of Charles Chapin, and treatment alien to the beginning of a new cohesiveness, for it got around MacAlarney had the most loyal staff in town.

My first big metropolitan assignment was under MacAlarney. He made me a sort of field city editor at the pier when the Carpathia landed the Titanic survivors. Headquarters were in the rear of a fly-blown hashery on West street, opposite the Cunard pier. It was a night of howling wind and rain and a drenched city turned out to welcome survivors. For the early morning edition I assembled facts turned in by others and wrote the lead that occupied a double column down page under an eight-column banner line. Finished, I went to bed after 48 hours on my feet. Three hours later my wife awakened me flourishing the early edition. In 12-point was the unexpected by-line: "By O. O. McIntyre." As sleepy as I was I read it at least a dozen times.
